was being done in the bathroom. It was quenched with a pump stream before it caused serious damage, but the attic was heavily charged with smoke. Wiltwyck and Central stations and the Wicks Company salvage unit answered the call at 3:38 p. m. (Freeman photo)

Disregard Failure Prediction

Milk Strike Scheduled August 14 by Farmers

Albany (AP) — The Farmers Union says a milk strike will start Aug. 14 regardless of the agriculture commissioner's prediction that it will fail.

Carl K. Peters, chairman of the board of the presidents of the Farmers Union, said yesterday 90 per cent of farmers polled by his group favored withholding milk to force higher prices. He said the poll was not limited to Farmers Union members, but included a "good cross-section of the milkshed."

Farmers Polled
The total number polled was not announced. A spokesman said no total was available. He said 6,000 cards had been mailed and, in addition, farmers had been polled at numerous meetings.

Kohler Is Choice For Senate Race, Friendly to Ike

Milwaukee (AP) — Wisconsin Republicans nominated a firm friend of President Eisenhower's, Modern Republicanism yesterday for the Senate seat previously held by Joseph R. McCarthy, who died May 2.

Edges Out Davis
Walter J. Kohler Jr., 53-year-old, three-time governor of the state, edged out former Rep. Glenn R. Davis in a finish decided by the last vote counting in metropolitan Milwaukee precincts.

Kohler was alone in the seven-man GOP field in his full support of the President. Davis is a 41-year-old veteran of five terms in the campaign. Only State Sen. Gerald Lorge, who ran a poor sixth, called upon McCarthy's old supporters for help. Kohler will be opposed in the general election Aug. 27 by William Proxmire, whom he beat twice previously in gubernatorial elections. Proxmire won the Democratic nomination by defeating Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee. No runoff of primary nominees is necessary in Wisconsin. However, independents may run in the general election if they qualify.

Let McCarthy Rest
None of the fireworks attendant on the career of Sen. McCarthy carried over into the campaign. Only State Sen. Gerald Lorge, who ran a poor sixth, called upon McCarthy's old supporters for help. Kohler will be opposed in the general election Aug. 27 by William Proxmire, whom he beat twice previously in gubernatorial elections. Proxmire won the Democratic nomination by defeating Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee. No runoff of primary nominees is necessary in Wisconsin. However, independents may run in the general election if they qualify.

The August election is for the remainder of McCarthy's term, which expires in January 1959.

Westchester Firm To Take Over Chevy

Appointment of Byrne Brothers, Westchester county Chevrolet dealers, as Kingston Chevrolet representatives was reported today on good authority.

It is expected the Westchester dealers will be given the Kingston franchise in addition to their White Plains, Mt. Kisco and Meriden, Conn., agencies.

It was reported an agreement for lease of the Bev Anderson Chevrolet, Inc., premises on Broadway was being negotiated.

Arms Body Will Work On Report

Dulles Rallies Nations for Plan

London (AP) — Western and Soviet disarmament delegates called off their regular meeting today and substituted a "working lunch" to draw up an interim report to the United Nations on their lengthy search for an arms agreement.

The five-nation subcommittee's 24-hour postponement was made on western request as Secretary of State Dulles worked behind closed doors to rally British, French and Canadian support for a limited open skies plan to guard against sneak nuclear attack.

Report Due Tomorrow
The subcommittee report to the United Nations is due in New York tomorrow. This was regarded as an unofficial deadline when the talks opened in an atmosphere of cautious optimism on March 18.

Even though most of the optimism appears to have vanished, western delegates have made clear that they want the talks extended. At a private meeting last night they agreed to file an interim report, outlining in detail the discussions so far and stating the meeting will continue.

Dulles, Stassen Hosts
Dulles and U. S. disarmament delegate Harold E. Stassen were hosts at the luncheon at Ambassador John Hay Whitney's residence during which Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin, in his first meeting with Dulles, was expected to receive the western proposal for an interim report.

An extension of the talks requires unanimous consent of all five delegates. Western officials were confident, however, that Zorin would agree to the plan.

Talks to Lloyd
Dulles met first today with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. Then he and Stassen met with the full delegations from Canada, Britain, France. The latter two were reported less anxious than the United States for an arms pact at this time.

Dulles was reported to have won the Allies' hesitant approval at session last night to an expanded new version of President Eisenhower's open skies plan of inspection to prevent surprise attack.

Reports from inside the meeting room said tersely there had "been general agreement" on a wide variety of disarmament problems. But because there was no further statement and the private talks continued today, observers concluded the western negotiations were experiencing considerable difficulty.

Three Proposals

Informants said the expanded plan discussed by Dulles and the western delegations reportedly offers three proposals to the Russians:

1. All U. S. territory would be exposed in exchange for inspection of all the Soviet Union.
2. The Allied nations of west Europe would expose all their territories in exchange for inspection of practically all of European Russia. That would take in most Soviet territory west of the Ural Mountains. Parts of southern Russia would be excluded.
3. A region centering on the Arctic Circle would be opened, including Alaska and the Aleutian islands and corresponding parts of East Siberia, Kamchatka and the Kurile Islands.

The western partners also were said to have agreed that before any closing of the disarmament talks, they should submit a joint package proposal for a limited disarmament agreement. It would include western suggestions of open skies inspection, reduction of conventional arms and forces and terms for suspending nuclear weapon tests and inspection.

Leopold Loses, Now Plans Parole Plea

Springfield, Ill., (AP) — Thrill slayer Nathan Leopold has lost his bid for an unconditional release from Stateville Prison where he has served 33 years of an 85-year sentence but he plans a new plea to win a parole.

Gov. William G. Stratton yesterday denied executive clemency to the 52-year-old convicted killer of Bobby Franks, 14, dashing any immediate hopes Leopold had of being freed early in December.

$941,045 Is Voted By Onteora Budget Is Passed Tuesday by 243-83

Approximately 500 qualified voters of the Onteora Central School district attended an adjourned meeting in the school at Boiceville Tuesday evening when a budget of $941,045 was approved by a vote of 243 to 83.

The meeting had been postponed from July 9 awaiting a decision from the State Education Department on the appeal before the commissioner from a vote last April for annexation of Woodstock District No. 2 to Onteora.

Woodstock Not Figured
A decision setting aside the annexation vote was returned on Monday and consequently in the budget adopted last evening no consideration was given in a financial way to the Woodstock district.

For the first time qualified voters of West Hurley, Morgan Hill and Spillway school districts participated in the meeting at Onteora and voted. These three districts have recently been included in the Onteora central district.

Cure Is Elected
There was only one contest for board member, that being between Fred D. Cure of Pine Hill and Herbert J. Epstein of Mt. Tremper. Epstein was defeated by a vote of 299 to 123.

Mrs. Marie Klein of Shady and John Haggerty of Ashoken were re-elected to the board without opposition. Mrs. Klein was elected for a five-year term under a new provision of the law and Haggerty for a four year term.

Although Woodstock District No. 2 voted last spring for annexation to Onteora, the recent decision of the education commissioner setting aside that election, eliminated the voters from Woodstock at last night's meeting.

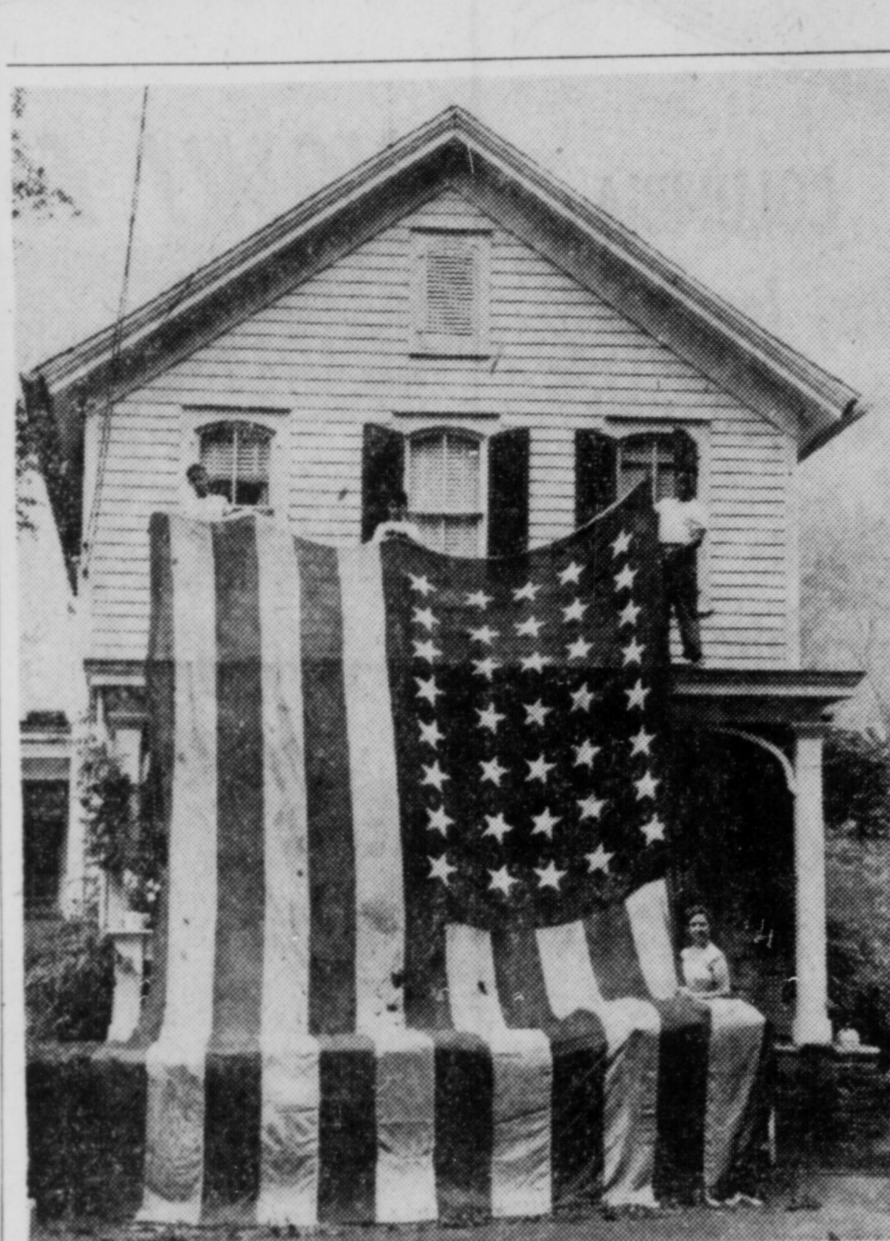

New School Bill Planned by Ike

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will submit a new school aid bill to the next session of Congress—a bill, he said, that won't put a albatross around the neck of the American taxpayer.

At a news conference, Eisenhower also firmly opposed adding any jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill now before the Senate and voiced hope the measure will be passed soon in its present form.

Eisenhower said too he is very hopeful that Congress will act soon to provide an adequate foreign aid bill. He said it was news to him that some Senate Democrats have been complaining they could not get White House help in getting the mutual security legislation through.

Area Gets More Hail, Damage Is Negligible; Rain Does Fruit Good

FLAG WITH 37 STARS—Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Fiore and sons, Peter and Rickey, of 71 Lindsley avenue, display American flag with 37 stars, which they recently found in hayloft of a barn on their property. Mrs. Fiore said the flag was discovered stored away in some old boxes. According to information in the Kingston City Library, the 37th star was added to "Old Glory" when Nebraska became a state on March 1, 1867. (Freeman photo).

School Annexation Renewed

Woodstock Residents Seek Another Election

Residents of Woodstock Common School District No. 2 are seeking another referendum vote on the order of the Commissioner of Education for annexation of that district to Onteora Central School.

A petition signed by approximately 75 voters of Woodstock School District No. 2, was filed with District Superintendent of Schools Reginald Bennett Tuesday for transmission to Albany. Mr. Bennett said today the petition would be taken to Albany in the next day or two and filed with the Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, Jr.

The petition seeks to have the commissioner of education fix a date for another election. The commissioner has 30 days after filing of the petition to select a date and after the date had been fixed notices must be posted ten days prior to the election.

35 Signatures Needed
Under the law the petition must contain the signatures of at least 10 per cent of the number of children in the district as of August 30, 1956. It is estimated there are some 350 children in the district and that approximately 35 signatures were needed. The petition contains about twice that number.

Some time ago the commissioner of education made an order of annexation for the Woodstock School District No. 2 to join with Onteora Central district. An election was held on April 13 at which time the proposition of approval of the annexation order was submitted to the qualified voters of the district. The voters approved the annexation order by a vote of 417 to 391.

Claim 69 Votes Cast
Later opponents of the proposition claimed 69 votes cast in favor of the proposition were cast by persons not qualified to vote. An appeal was taken to the State Education department. On Monday of this week the Commissioner of Education held that since the proposition had been approved by 26 votes, and it appeared at least 26 persons voted illegally he set aside the referendum vote.

The petition presented to District Superintendent Bennett Tuesday seeks to have the matter re-submitted to the voters.

It was also reported a petition has been prepared by the opposition and sent to Albany Tuesday seeking to have the Education department call an election and submit the proposition of annexation to Kingston.

Leader Building Being Prepared For Sears Firm

The old Kingston Daily Leader building at the corner of Crown and John streets is being remodeled for use by Sears, Roebuck Company as a mail order house, it was reported to The Freeman by a reliable source today.

The mail order business will occupy the entire first floor, according to reports. The second floor of the old stone building will be renovated into business offices, which will be available on a rental basis.

The first floor of the building, owned by Salvatore J. Aprea of 126 Green street, operator of Aprea's Cigar Store, 42 North Front street, is being renovated so that the entire floor is on the same level. The press room and storage section of the building is several feet lower than the rooms used as offices. The office level is being reduced to the level of the floors in the press and storage sections.

An attempt will be made to (Continued on Page 22, Col. 4)

Woodstock Sector And New Paltz Get Hailstones

Soil Aided Red Hook Gets Its Share of Storm

Hail struck again yesterday in Ulster county and nearby areas but with mild force compared to the heavy precipitation which late Monday night practically wiped out orchards and crops in the Clintondale area.

Hail was reported in the Woodstock - Bearsville section, the New Paltz area and southern section of the county and in Red Hook in Dutchess county.

Strikes Twice
Hail reportedly struck twice yesterday in the New Paltz area—about 3:30 p. m. and again about 7 p. m.

County Agricultural Agent William Palmer said however, that all precipitation was "apparently small" compared to the Monday storm which destroyed thousands of bushels of apples in a swath a mile wide and two or three miles long in the Clintondale area.

Good Effect
He pointed out also, however, that two or three inches of rain during the past several days had produced "beneficial effect" on fruit and crops not struck by hail.

Some estimates of apple loss ranging up to as much as a million bushels have been reported. The orchards are enjoying some relief from rains, however, which has strengthened the grower's position in regard to moisture in the soil. "When all is told," the severe hail loss will be somewhat offset by the size increase of the fruit due to recent rainfall—assuming that sufficient rain is precipitated in the future.

No Damage Reported
Palmer said he had received no reports of damage from yesterday's hail.

He said that the total number of bushels of apples destroyed by the Monday night storm had been estimated at approximately one million but that the figure was "debatable."

Some of the apples may be marketable as "hail grade" apples. Orchards in the Clintondale area suffered losses ranging from 10 per cent to 100 per cent, it is reported.

Backs Program
Walter Schreiber, president of the Hudson Valley Crop Services Co-op, Inc., said today that the 1957 hail suppression program, which has been in operation about nine weeks, has "appeared to produce satisfactory results" despite hail damage to crops in "three or four isolated areas inside the valley."

T. J. Henderson, meteorologist for the Weather Modification Company, reports that the program has been in operation during 25 storm periods. These storm periods have produced a total of 209 individual precipitation cells within the influence of the silver iodide generator network. Almost 1,000 hours of generator time have been logged.

Different Weather
The weather this season has been quite different from last year in that most of the precipitation cells have developed inside the area with no chance to follow them into the valley from some outside point. This has resulted in an increased aircraft operation with the total number of flight hours already in excess of the total during the entire 1956 season. The 1957 program has now reached the mid-point and if the total contract price is (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Niagara Power Measure Action May Be Deferred

Washington (AP) — The Senate Democratic leader says he can not promise that the Senate will take up the Niagara power bill immediately after action on the civil rights bill.

However, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson D-Tex said yesterday he was aware of the emergency nature of the Niagara project and hoped the bill could be acted upon at this session of Congress.

The bill would authorize New York State to build a 600-million-dollar power plant at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Meanwhile, Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr. D-Pa, who has raised objections to provisions in the bill, is making new overtures to Gov. Harriman of New York to join with him in suggesting amendments to portions of the bill dealing with distribution of power to Pennsylvania and Ohio. The question of the bill's status in the Senate came up when Sen. Irving M. Ives R-NY noted that Niagara was not among those bills to be considered under a proposed agreement to lay aside civil rights temporarily and act on emergency measures.

Ives said he would like to have Niagara included. Johnson said he was agreeable, provided another measure for the financing of TVA power projects also were included. Johnson said he favored both bills.

Eight of New York's 10 Struck Cement Plants Operating Again, Four in Area

Albany (AP) — Eight of New York state's 10 cement plants closed by a strike were back in operation today.

Labor and management at the Lehigh Portland Cement Co. in Buffalo announced agreement last night. About 275 workers returned to their jobs today.

Work resumed at seven plants yesterday as a total of 1,400 workers returned to their jobs after endorsing new contracts negotiated by labor-management teams at individual plants.

Two other plants remained closed. Negotiations continued. The workers at Buffalo, members of Local 118, had authorized their negotiating committee to reach an agreement and do not have to ratify it.

At the height of the four-week strike, more than a half-billion dollars in construction projects in the state were held up by cement shortages.

Plants Resume Work
Work was resumed yesterday at these New York State plants: Alpha Portland Cement Co., Cementon and Jamesville plants, approximate employment, 245; Universal Atlas Cement Co., Hudson, 280; North American Cement Co., Howes Cave, 420; Catskill plants, 420; Lehigh Portland Cement Co., Aisen, 240; Glens Falls Portland Cement Co., 210.

Still out were the Lone Star Cement Co., Hudson, and the Penn-Dixie plant at Buffalo. They employ a total of 465 workers.

13.6 Cents Wage Increase
Agreements reached by the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union at the reopened plants provide for a package wage increase of 13.6 cents an hour, with 10 cents of it retroactive to May 1, when the old contract expired.

The new wage scale ranges generally from $1.85 to $2.47 an hour. However, the new scale at Lehigh Portland in Buffalo will be $1.84 to $2.51.

Northern Jersey Milk Consumers Face 1½¢ Raise

Trenton, N. J., (AP) — Most North Jersey consumers face increases of from 1 to 1½ cents a quart in the price of standard drinking milk as the result of a new federal marketing order Thursday.

Sources in the milk industry, who refused to be identified, said they anticipate the boost as the only answer to higher costs under the federal order.

Covers 12½ Counties

The order covers New Jersey's 12½ northern counties and 35 Upstate New York counties, as well as the New York city area which has been under federal regulation for several years.

The federal order already has been announced. The state office of milk industry expects to issue an almost identical order tomorrow.

August 1 Date

Milk companies operating in North Jersey will issue individual price announcements effective on Aug. 1.

The OMI has said it does not expect to change its minimum retail price on drinking milk for the time being.

At present, the average price of standard drinking milk delivered to the home in New Jersey is 26½ cents a quart—half a cent above the minimum. The average price at the store is 24½ cents, right at the minimum.

Homogenized milk of standard quality sells for one cent a quart more. Premium grades cost an additional one cent and, if homogenized, two cents.

Depends on Supply

The price hikes are anticipated to offset what one industry spokesman estimated would be cost increases to dealers ranging from one-half to three cents a quart, depending on their source of supply.

They would put the average price of standard drinking milk delivered to the home at 27½ or 28 cents a quart. The store price would be 25½ or 26 cents a quart.

Brocton to Get Notice Through Traffic Light

Brocton (AP) — Beginning next month, travelers along the State Thruway will have a chance to know this Chautauqua county village of 1,390.

For during that period Brocton will boast the only traffic light in over 500 miles of Thruway pavement.

The Thruway Authority has decided to go ahead with an Aug. 21 scheduled opening of a section that passes through Brocton although an overpass here will not be complete.

At the request of town officials, intersecting Lake Ave. will be kept open and a temporary traffic light installed until the overpass is ready—probably late in September.

For Thruway drivers who might chance to stray to Lake Ave.—inadvertently by-passing a regular toll station—highway police will furnish officers as guides 24 hours a day.

Five New Cases Of Polio Noted in New York State

Albany (AP)—Five new cases of polio were reported last week in the 57 counties of the state outside New York City. But the year's total still runs well behind 1956.

Thirty-nine cases have been reported this year, compared with 131 at the same stage in 1956.

This compared also with an average of 287 for the three-year period before use of the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Of last week's cases, one was paralytic. The victim, in Oswego County, had not received any vaccine, the State Health Department said.

Of the other cases, all non-paralytic, one was reported in Oswego County, two in Nassau County and one in Suffolk County.

SOLEMN WARNING

The United States recently underwent its annual mock attack by nuclear weapons. The event was duly noted in the press, but it aroused little public interest. This may be due partly to summer heat and the accompanying tendency to relax. The chances are that public apathy on this subject also springs from a disinclination to believe that nuclear warfare actually could happen.

Though warnings about the horrors of such war doubtless tend to become rather boring on repetition, it is necessary to keep reiterating two things: One, war could happen to us; two, if a general nuclear war does break out, it may well mean the destruction of the race.

The latest warning on the latter point was issued by a group of eminent scientists from a number of countries who gathered in Nova Scotia at the invitation of the Cleveland financier, Cyrus S. Eaton. These men, all authorities on nuclear destruction, discussed the matter for several days and then declared in a statement:

"The radiological hazards (in a general nuclear war) would be thousands of times greater than those due to fallout effects of test explosions. In combatant countries, hundreds of millions of people would be killed outright by the blast of heat and by the ionizing radiation, whether 'clean' or 'dirty' bombs were used."

It is a familiar warning. It is also a solemn and earnest warning, voiced by men who know what they are talking about. In response to it, the least that ordinary citizens can do is to continue urging upon their government the importance of taking all honorable steps to forestall war and to build a world climate in which it cannot come.

A newspaper columnist said recently women were better off in days when they used old-fashioned elbow grease instead of modern appliances. That chap had better look out. If he sees a gal picking up a broom she may have a better target for it than the cobwebs.

A USEFUL MONSTER

Only the dullest or most naive of men can have failed to be concerned about the increasing domination of our lives by science and technology. Anyone who is perceptive and imaginative is likely to feel, now and then, that science may turn out to be a Frankenstein monster.

Dean George Russell Harrison of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has thought a great deal about this matter. His conclusions, expressed in a new book called "What Man May Be," are hopeful and optimistic. This is encouraging, since the M.I.T. Dean is a man who is broadly informed in this field.

Dean Harrison does not fear the machine. Man will not become its slave, he writes, but "now has a choice as to whether he will use machines or remain . . . a slave to his poverty and hunger." This practical scientist also has a good answer for those who worry about the possible ill effects of automation:

"Was a man who had to work 14 hours a day to afford a shack in which he could live on dark bread and soup better off than a worker . . . who by spending only half as much time . . . can have a comfortable home, a well nourished family, and an opportunity for as much education as he and his children can absorb?"

Dean Harrison is no scientific pollyanna. He knows that there are dangers in science, and not alone in such obviously lethal developments as the hydrogen bomb. But he believes that man must respond to this challenge as he has to many other challenges down through his long history. Whether science degrades or ennobles us will be largely up to man himself.

An inventor has devised a fishline, hook and imitation worm, all hollow, so that when the fisherman presses a small bulb the worm wiggles and lures the fish to its doom. Science marches on!

ARABIAN NATIONALISM

For three decades, nationalism in the United States has been played down, often as a characteristic of foreign policy, often because of the efforts of various public organizations which regard nationalism as a social evil, sometimes as a product of left-wing internationalism, sometimes because men sincerely believe that it is wrong to emphasize the importance of one country over another.

This phenomenon has appeared nowhere else on the face of the Earth during the same period. As a matter of fact, since the end of World War II, nationalism has become increasingly intensified throughout the world, new, small, weak and backward nations being elevated to independence and becoming members of the United Nations on a status of equality with the greatest powers.

Arabic nationalism has asserted itself to the utmost, but this form of nationalism is different from all others because Arabic nationalism assumes that all Arabic-speaking peoples, whatever their government affiliations, belong to the Arabic nation. This takes in a wide territory and a number of separate countries. It would be comparable to all English-speaking peoples regarding themselves as belonging to one country.

Arabic nationalism did not exist before the 19th Century. Before Mahomet, Arabs were Jews, Christians and pagans and belonged to distinct warring tribes and nationalities. After the establishment of the Caliphate, church and state were united and an Arabic state developed from central Asia to the north of Africa including Egypt. When the Ottoman Turks conquered the Arabs and established a suzerainty over them, both Arabic civilization and Islam moved into Eastern Europe and for a while the eastern Mediterranean was a Moslem lake.

Modern Arabic nationalism began as an intellectual movement whose strongest advocates were not Moslems at all but Syrian and Lebanese Christians, educated at the American University at Beirut. They gained their knowledge of the principles of nationalism from their American teachers. Most of the nationalists operated out of Egypt under British protection. Much of the early research in Islamic history and archaeology in the 19th Century was done by British and American scholars. The Arabs had for so long been an oppressed people that they had themselves forgotten their former glories.

The politicians followed the intellectuals and by the time of World War I, they too became nationalists. As Turkey had joined the Germans, it became British and American policy to support the Arabs against the Turks and at the end of World War I, new Arab states were formed by British decision.

Egypt had been occupied by the British, not in opposition to the Egyptians who were not a free people, but to safeguard the Egyptians from the Turks and the Germans. But the strongest enmity in Egypt developed against the British and this intensified as the Egyptian royal family founded by Muhammad Ali (1805-48) became increasingly wasteful and futile.

In Syria, the French had a League of Nations mandate which led to bitterness. Lebanon, which is hardly an Arabic country in the strictest sense, also was under a French mandate and became antagonistic. Saudi Arabia, founded by Great Britain, was really the achievement of Lawrence of Arabia who resurrected the Hashimite family to hold this Arab world which split up as fast as it was put together. Transjordan now called Jordan, a tiny and impoverished province, and Israel, a European-type country, including few Arabs and governed by Jews, were both carved out by the British. Therefore it was easy to assail the British as the enemies of Arabic nationalism which relates not to one country but to folks with a linguistic kinship. Iraq, of course, was and is the most stable of Arabic countries.

Nationalism and feudalism are not co-existent and therein lies the weakness of Arabic nationalism. Despite the great wealth that pours into some Arabic countries because of their oil deposits, feudalism, polygamy and slavery continue. The problem that all Arab states face is the establishment of a sound system of government, consonant with the best interests and the will of their peoples. This has not been achieved anywhere. To some Westerners, Nasser looked like a young hopeful, but it is obvious that to the Arabs he is a troublesome upstart.

The leader of the movement seems to be King Saud, but it is doubtful that the younger generations in the various Arab countries will accept his extreme Wahhabi orthodoxy.

Emotional Disturbance Often Causes Excessive Perspiration

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

It is curious how frequently questions on excessive perspiration arise. Sometimes these deal with excessive perspiration generally, but more often they refer to localized parts of the body.

Q—My doctor says my body creates too much insulin which eats up the sugar in my blood. What is this disease called and what can be done for it?—Mrs. M.

A—This is called hyperinsulinism, or spontaneous hypoglycemia. It is a symptom which can have one of several different causes, including tumors of the pancreas, disease of the liver, disease of the pituitary gland or the adrenals, or it can come without any identifiable cause. It is always important to fixate on it in each instance what is the basis of the symptom and to treat the situation accordingly.

Q—Several weeks ago my mother, who is 78 had a gall bladder operation. The day after the operation she was taken with a choking spell and in spite of anything which could be done she died shortly. An autopsy showed that there were blood clots in her lungs. Is this likely to happen and could it have been foreseen or forestalled?—Mrs. I.

A—The cause of death was probably pulmonary embolism. This is the name given to a condition in which a blood clot is carried by the blood stream from one part of the body to the lungs. It is one of the risks of some operations, but is not exceedingly common. It cannot be foretold in advance. The question of forestalling it is difficult to answer since pulmonary embolism still occurs sometimes in spite of early post-operative rising and other measures. However, it is believed that such measures as can be used today sometimes prevent this from occurring when it would have happened in the past.

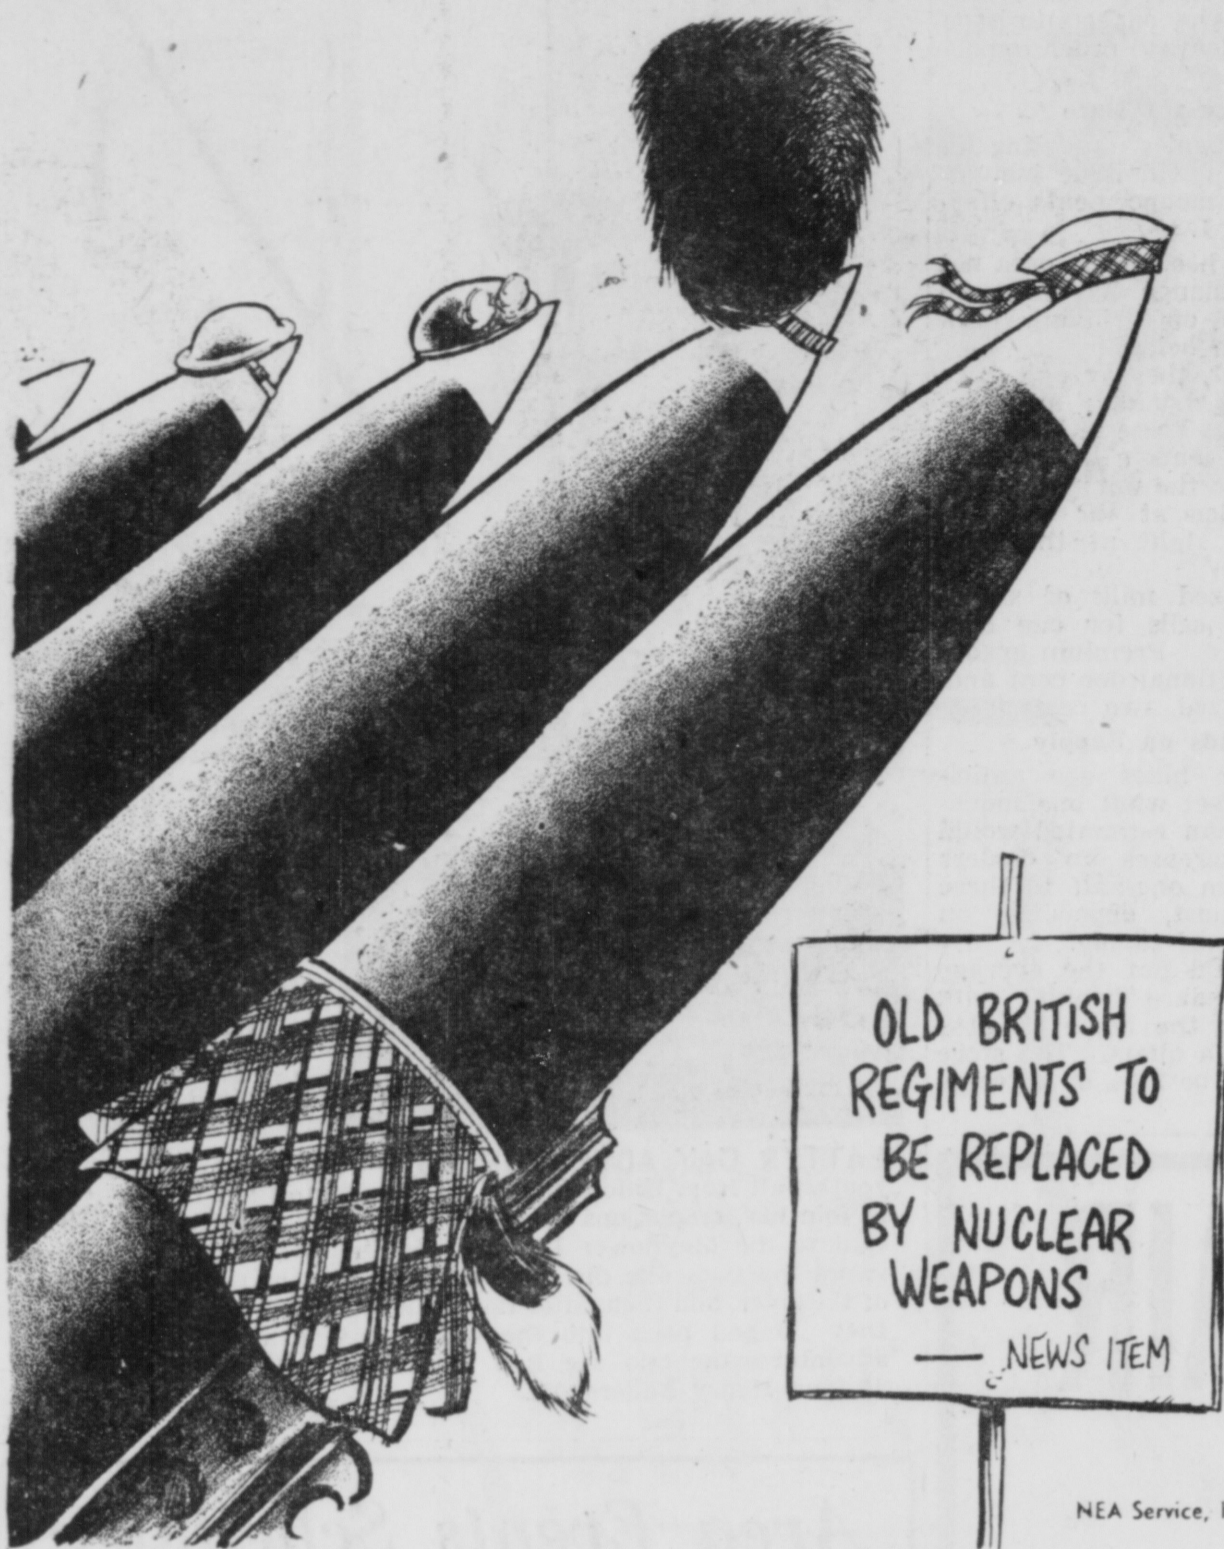

Q—I have a niece who perspires excessively, not only under her arms, but also on her feet. What can be done?—A. L.

A—The sweat glands are under the control of the sympathetic nervous system, which in turn is not controlled by the brain. For unknown reasons, some people are much more likely to be troubled with excessive perspiration under the arms, on the feet or elsewhere, than others. However, almost all people notice this to some degree when they are emotionally disturbed. There is rarely any permanent method of relieving such conditions. The application of commercial antiperspirants seems to be safe and reasonably effective for most. Sometimes dusting powders are useful. In severe cases which do not yield to such forms of treatment, it is occasionally possible to bring a localized region under control by the careful use of X-ray treatments.

The Old Order Changeth . . .

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Congress is having difficulty in making budget cuts that will stick and making new money appropriations over and above what the administration has asked for and this points up the fact that one field of real economizing is being almost completely neglected.

This is the reduction of government costs by application of the Hoover Commission recommendations. Two years ago the second Hoover Commission made more than 300 recommendations for increasing government efficiency. To date, only 100 have been put into effect.

This year, only three Hoover plans have been fully approved by both houses of Congress and become law. Seven others have passed the Senate. About the same number have cleared the House. All the others are piled up behind the civil rights bill log jam. The chances for further action this year are considered slim.

SO DISCOURAGING is this situation that President Eisenhower has asked Congress to give him just five of the reorganization measures this year. One of them extends Reorganization Act authority for another four years, so that something will get done eventually.

A second would give Congress annual review of the unspent carry-over appropriations from previous years. They now amount to more than 70 billion dollars. This is roughly equivalent to what this year's budget will be. Congress has no control over this money, the way the books are kept now.

A third request is to abolish the postal savings system.

A fourth is to permit the government to train specialists in private universities.

The fifth is to remove from congressional review government agencies' authority to dispose of surplus real property.

Clarence Francis, chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Reports, points to several other Hoover Commission recommendations as offering great potential savings.

ONE IS TO create a civilian-controlled Defense Supply and Service Administration to handle procurement of items which are used by all the armed forces. This would eliminate duplication of buying and shipping.

A second proposal would create a Federal Council of Health which would consolidate the hospital services of a score of government agencies. They now compete with each other for doctors, nurses and medical supplies. Some hospitals are overcrowded while others are half-empty.

The third Francis priority recommendation is to make Congress give up its authority to prevent the closing of business-type operations run by government agencies.

Most of these businesses are now in the Defense Department. But over 700 of them have been closed or scheduled to close in the last two years. And more would be abandoned if Congress would give up its veto power.

NO DOLLAR TAG has been put on savings that could be made by carrying out these and the 200 other Hoover Commission recommendations. But Robert L. L. McCormick, research director for the Citizens Committee, has tracked down savings of 2.8 billion dollars which have been made as a result of carry-over out some of the recommendations.

Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, says these are exaggerated estimates.

But one point fairly apparent is that few of these recommendations would cost the government any more money. And any reorganization which would result in greater government efficiency should in the long run pay off as government economy.

OK on Theater Tours

New York (AP)—A court decision has put back in business travel services which arrange theatre-going tours for New York visitors. The city licensing department, which controls sale of tickets to all Broadway shows, previously said tour agencies could not be okayed. The state Supreme Court ruled, however, that permits could be issued if proper controls are set up. The theatre tours have been a booming business for several years.

Spreading the Word

New York (AP)—Thousands of Loma people in Liberia who were not only illiterate but whose language had no written form have learned to read, and now have some 16 "books" available. This is the result of work by Dr. Wesley Sadler of the United Lutheran Church Mission staff. In 1940 Dr. Sadler and his wife started the project of reducing the Loma language to writing. The second step was to teach the Liberians to read. The available literary output, according to mission sources, includes the Gospel of Mark, a hymnal, pamphlets on child care and hygiene, all compiled by the Sadlers in the isolated jungle village of Woz.

Questions -- Answers

Q—Why do we refer to the oceans beyond the three-mile limit as the "high seas"?

A—The word "high" in this case is in its older meaning of "public" as it is also used in highways which are really public ways.

Q—Do tornadoes occur at any particular time of the year?

A—Tornadoes, like hurricanes, have a "season" of their own, from March through June. But here again, they cannot be depended upon, for they have occurred in every month.

Q—What kind of tree is a madrone?

A—Madrone or madrona is a beautiful white-flowering tree growing in the Pacific states and British Columbia. It belongs to the arbutus, or heath family.

Q—What U. S. Army general reported the movements of ground troops from the air by radio for the first time?

A—Gen. Henry H. Arnold in 1912.

Q—Which is the only inland state in New England?

A—Vermont.

Statistics Called No Proof Of Cigarette-Cancer Link

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 31 — Congress has been asked by some of its well-meaning members to take action to recognize the alleged hazards of cigarette smoking. But to date there is no proof that lung cancer is caused by tobacco in any form.

Coincidence is not proof. The fact that a large number of persons who smoke get lung cancer has not been proved to be a conclusive reason by itself to avoid the use of tobacco.

This writer had an unpublished experience some years ago with a case of coincidence in the field of statistics. It indicated vividly how figures seeming to prove a cause-and-effect relationship were not corroborated through any scientific investigation thereafter. A prominent physician with an investigative turn of mind organized a study of a big city where a polio epidemic occurred. He and his assistants plotted every single case of polio on the city map and then undertook to find out if any common denominator existed. It was discovered that a certain kind of tree grew adjacent to 95 per cent of the homes where polio had occurred.

Other States Studied

This information led to other studies as to the origin of the tree and as to which states had a considerable number of such trees. It turned out that the states which had the larger number did have more polio cases each year, whereas in the states with a small number of such trees there were very few persons afflicted with the disease. It was even discovered that certain countries in the world which had a relatively small number of such trees had little or no polio.

This correspondent drew all the data to the attention of an important charitable foundation devoted to medical research. After years of study, the foundation's experts came to the conclusion that there was no connection between the tree and polio.

Had these facts been published at the time the investigations were going on, and the name of the tree disclosed, it seems certain that throughout America people would have been cutting down that particular tree—indeed, they might do it today. Hence this writer doesn't feel the name of the tree or the prominent physician who initiated the project should be mentioned.

So it is with statistics with reference to tobacco and lung cancer. These may really turn out some day to prove a cause-and-effect relationship, but to date it is only fair to say that no such evidence has yet been produced.

Cites Professor's Views

Dr. Harry S. N. Greene, professor of pathology at Yale University, who has been concerned with cancer research in the teaching of medical students, told a subcommittee of the House Committee on Governmental Operations the other day:

"In summary, the method employed in the statistical inquiry under question, particularly the type of data used by analysis, raise doubts that the results obtained can be interpreted as conveying a causal relationship between tobacco smoking and lung cancer. However, the results have been accepted by some investigators as sufficiently suggestive to warrant a direct experimental approach. The investigation has been reported as it progressed and, from my own point of view, has not succeeded in supplying confirmatory evidence."

Dr. Ian G. Macdonald, director of cancer research at the University of Southern California, chairman of a committee on cancer, research for the American Medical Association and a director of the American Cancer Society, said to the same Congressional committee:

"In summary, the total evidence here reviewed fails to establish any sound basis on which a causative influence may be assigned to cigarette smoking in the production of cancer of the lung."

Sometimes Unrealistic

Statistical association is sometimes an unrealistic device. Robert Wohlforth, treasurer of Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, the book publishers, made an interesting survey many years ago and, in response to my inquiry the other day, writes me:

"The point of my private survey was to correlate, for my own amusement, the production of corn in Kansas during a specified time series against the weight of U. S. Presidents, to show that statistics do not establish a cause-and-effect relationship. The series showed that, when we have lots of corn in Kansas, our Presidents always weigh a great deal, or, to put it another way, if we want a real big corn crop, we should elect Presidents who weigh as much as William Howard Taft."

Statistical association could be significant, but sometimes it merely proves to be a fascinating coincidence. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The subject of this report on the personal effect of tobacco fumes began his career as a smoker with improvised fags made of a dried autumn weed called Indian tobacco. This is silvery green in summer when it is used in homely, dirt-road therapy as a poultice for abscesses, cancers and the consumption sometimes called the white plague. It also reduces risings caused by toothache.

Subject also smoked lily stems in the autumn, out about the age of 9 progressed to Duke's mixture and Bull Durham packed in muslin bags and a versatile product called Yum-Yum which looked like mule hair and was fitten for smokin' in cigarette or pipe and for chewin'.

This came in tinfoil and blue paper. The price of each product was a nickel. For about 38 years, subject smoked and smoked. Barring a few weeks in football season when he would bravely swear off, counting the hours, to "get in shape," and a total of perhaps six months in smatches thereafter, all of which ended in despair and remorse, he smoked excessively. But at last he got sick and tired of the saturation which befouled his clothing and even caused emanations from his pores so rank that he could smell himself.

Thereupon one morning he did not light a cigarette before breakfast nor after nor ever since. During that time, were cancer of the lung reasonably attributable to the smoke of tobacco and the almost impalpable paper of cigarettes, he reasonably should have come down of it. However, he has never had any respiratory trouble except occasional bronchitis which was fair wear and tear and though he is proud in a mild way of his conquest of a demerol habit, he now gives cigarettes no thought as a personal problem.

For a few months after the victory, in vacant or in pensive mood, he would multiply the length of a conventional cigarette by 20, the contents of a package, and that by 365 and the total by X years. He would divide the grand total by 12 and divide that by 5,280. His reasons were too obvious and insipid to waste good white newspaper on, although such calculations have occupied many of the best minds of this magnificent age of science, technology and reason.

But after a reasonable time he gave up those thoughts and put tobacco behind him forever. It was an even deal, without recriminations or ill feeling. The cigarette people can't say he didn't give their product a fair waste, and he can't say cigarettes stunted his growth. He was only a twerp and skinny as a shad when he started, but he was rising six feet when he called it quits. He weighed 180 that day and within two months he had busted all his gussets and had to buy a new layette from the skin out. The cost was far in excess of his utmost probable expense for cigarettes as long as he might have lived.

He never had sinusitis or catarrh. His digestion was all right except when he went crazy in a mysterious phase of the plants about once in six months and succumbed to foamy fung and kindred abominations falsely attributed to the Chinese. These are served in a chain-store system of places across the country, all owned by a New York corporation.

Chiang Kai-shek used to call up the subject in Washington, long distance, prepaid, lend-lease, all the way from China and Moan, "Hey, you allee samee good friend, you makee plopa-ganda teller Melican people not invent foey fung gun, gun, chop mein and/or chop suey, for the love of Peta, we have got enough troubles!"

Our subject would say, "Okay me try, because you good Chinese pal but you remember old Madam Catfish, first lady of the world, used to live in White House, well Missy Catfish she hatee Missy Chiang's insides because Missy Chiang velly pretty Chinese lady. So this plopa-ganda probably nothing but Madam Catfish plot to get even with Missy Chiang."

Our subject smoked the gleams of Curry Combs, 20 for a nickel and saturated in tar. He also smoked Sweet Caporal's; Meccas, Hassans, Trophies, English Woodbines, the storied Gaspers of the Imperial Tommy Atkins; Monopoles, made of sweepings from the barber shops of France; and Greys, Three Castles and a hundred other English brands of kelp. No cigarette ever helped him think or soothed his nerves or otherwise made life less trying. But neither did they make life more so. And if they are going to give him cancer of the lung, they had better get going because his time is limited, thank God, and down to date he hasn't got even a nagging cough to show for a conscientious tussle with the menace which in his novitiate was called the coffin nail.

Sitter and Institution

Cleveland (AP)—A 23-year-old mother who left her baby with a sitter five or six nights a week while she attended the movies was cleared of neglect charges here because baby sitting is "an American institution." Juvenile Judge Albert W. Voldman in dismissing the charge said: "Baby sitting is now an American institution. To find this mother guilty of neglect would mean that millions of American mothers are guilty of neglect."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York (AP)—On paper the oil industry looks plenty rich. World wide production is up. Demand is expected to increase steadily for years. Profits for many companies are at all time highs.

But even the wealthy have their family feuds. And their poor relations.

President Eisenhower has just stepped into the middle of one of the bitterest fights—the squabble over how much foreign oil should be brought into the United States, most of it along the eastern seaboard.

He wants the amount cut voluntarily to 12 per cent of domestic output instead of the 16 per cent scheduled by importers. His plan carries a threat of federal control, if ignored.

Glut in Supplies
This comes in a summer already marked by oilmen's worries over a glut in supplies and price rises that are hard to make stick. Four groups could be affected by the President's plan:

1. Producers. Domestic well owners see in a cut in imports the chance to increase their own production, now held to 13 days a month in Texas by the regulatory bodies. Companies with large overseas oil sources see their profit margins narrowed if they can't bring in as much of the oil they produce more cheaply abroad.

2. Consumers. Their interests are simple. They want plenty of gasoline and fuel oil and they would like to see the price held down rather than rising again.

3. Defense planners. Their interest is in enough reserves being found in this country and enough production facilities developed by a prospering domestic oil industry to take care of any emergency, such as the possible cutting off of foreign sources by an enemy.

4. Other producing nations.

Other friends, particularly Venezuela, profit greatly by sale of oil to the United States. The oil rich Arabian countries eye ruefully anything that might cut into their royalties.

The President's order for a voluntary cut in imports is aimed chiefly at the third group, the defense planners. Their argument: The domestic oil industry must be kept prosperous or the incentive for drilling new wells will disappear. Wildcaters aren't too interested in bringing in wells that can be operated less than half time.

Seven of the biggest American companies import most of the foreign oil. All but one have reported on their first half earnings. Profits for the six jumped strikingly this year over last. They say imports have little to do with that. The bonanza came when the Suez Canal was blocked, opening up a big new, but temporary, market in western Europe which helped drain off much of the over supply of oil that had piled up here.

26 U. S. Companies
In all 26 U. S. oil companies have reported so far on first six months operations. Nine of the smaller ones, each with only domestic supplies, show a decline in profits from a year ago.

The 26 as a whole, however, earned $1,322,029,133. This was 18 per cent better than the same 26 did in the first half of 1956.

The big boys are quick to point out that much of the earnings are being retained, and more will be needed, to carry out their planned expansion—looking for the oil reserves and building the facilities that the defense planners want. Over the next 10 years, oil economists figure, the oil industry must raise 115 billion dollars if it is to keep up with increasing world demand.

CHEVROLET BEST IN TRANSCONTINENTAL ECONOMY TEST!

In a conclusive test, sanctioned and certified by the NATA,* Chevrolet proved that it costs least to operate of the three leading low-priced cars tested! Traveling from Los Angeles to New York, Chevrolet recorded up to 17% greater fuel economy and lower total cost for the trip!

Still, Chevrolet's ability to save big hardly comes as a surprise.

Its economy is as traditional as its craftsmanship and solid construction. You take for granted Chevy's low operating costs, just as you've come to expect its fine finishing touches and careful attention to details—advantages the other low-priced cars can't quite seem to match. Slavin Is Accused Of Violating His Court Agreement

Nathan Slavin, 41, who lists his residence as 39 High street, Monticello, has been arrested on a charge of violating the conditions of a suspended sentence imposed late last year in Ulster County Court.

Slavin was sentenced at that time by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn to one and a half to three years in Clinton State Prison, Dannemora, on a charge of assault second degree.

The sentence was suspended on condition that Slavin, who resided at that time in Ellenville, left Ulster county.

Slavin established residence in Monticello where he operated a taxi service.

He was rearrested Tuesday by Sheriff Claude Bell and Identification Officer Earl Conroy of the Ulster county sheriff's office, and the Ellenville Police Department on complaint that he had again taken up residence in Ellenville.

It was reported that Slavin has allegedly been living in Ellenville for the past two weeks. District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today that Slavin returns from vacation at that time a hearing will be held. If Slavin is not a resident of the county he will be released. If it can be proved that he is a resident he will be forced to serve the original sentence.

Mutual Funds Provide Risk Diversification

At a Commensurate Cost

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q.—A Florida reader asks, "With $10,000 to invest, which would you recommend, Mutual Funds or stocks purchased through my broker?"

A.—I can't give you a direct answer to this question without fuller knowledge of your financial position, investment aims, broker-client relationship, etc. It might, however, be helpful to discuss briefly the pros and cons of Mutual Funds as an investment medium. Mutual Funds are open-end investment companies which are continuously selling new shares, either directly or through investment dealers. They are at all times willing to repurchase shares at current asset value. To the average-type investor Funds offer professional management, often of a high calibre, benefits of widespread diversification, and continuous supervision.

Mutual Funds are tailored to meet many different requirements. So-called "balance-funds" provide a theoretically ideal investment program, dividing their assets between bonds, preferred and common stocks in a varying ratio which depends upon market conditions. There are common stock funds investing solely in equities with the percentage of the fund invested depending upon management's judgment as to the course of stock prices. In addition, there are income funds, stressing high yield and offering very little in the way of appreciation.

SOME CRITICISM LEVELED AT CHARGES AND SALES METHODS

Most Mutual Funds deliver what they promise. On the whole, they probably do a better job for the average untrained investor than he can do himself, unless he has competent investment advice. The Funds selling through dealers charge a sales fee amounting to an average of 8 per cent and a management fee that averages about one-half of 1 per cent of the total investment. Critics of the Funds point out that the charges are more than commensurate with the service provided. Perhaps the most serious criticism leveled at the Funds is the rather high-pressure method of salesmanship often employed which makes it difficult for the ordinary investor to choose the fund which is most suitable to his own requirements.

To these charges, a highly-regarded spokesman in the field replies that anything worthwhile you buy must be paid for and that the average performance record of the Funds betters that of the average investor, year in and year out. As to high-pressure salesmanship, he points to the performance of life insurance salesmen who have "high-pressure" most Americans into insurance programs which have worked out very well.

There are now about 230 American and Canadian Mutual Funds from which to choose. We regard most of these as competently managed within the framework of their stated objectives. Among common stock funds there are many I like, including Mass. Investors Growth Stock Fund, Eaton & Howard Stock Fund, Growth Industry Shares, Television-Electronics Fund, and Fidelity Fund. Among my favored balanced funds are DeVegh Investing, Scudder, Stevens & Clark Fund, and Shareholders Trust of Boston.

INVESTORS ADVISED AGAINST BUYING ON SPLIT PROSPECTS

Q. Two of my stocks were split this year and both show sizable gains on last year's purchase price. These were American Cyanamid and Outboard Marine. Can you suggest any others I might buy in anticipation of a split?

A. I wouldn't buy any stock solely on its status as a stock-split candidate unless I had information as to the company's plans. I would buy only on the basis of earnings, dividends and growth prospects. The possibility that the shares may be split should be regarded simply as adding speculative attraction to an otherwise sound situation. Both of the holdings you mention are among my favored growth stocks on the Big Board. It would be difficult to assess how much of this year's rise was due to splitting the shares and how much to market appraisal of growth. There are many stocks that combine solid investment appeal and split possibilities. In this category I particularly like Addressograph-Multigraph, American Home Products, Eastman Kodak, Firestone, Good-year, Union Carbide, and Warner-Lambert.

Lutheran Youth Camp at Mt. Tremper Opens for Season, 110 Are Registered

To build Christian citizenship based on the parable of the Good Samaritan, is the governing policy of the director of the new Lutheran Youth Camp at Mt. Tremper, sponsored by the New York Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church.

During the season the camp, formerly Camp Wapanachki, under the Rev. Arthur Frieberg, Bergenfield, N. J., Camp Director, will bring to the Catskills several groups of young people and adults from the various parishes of the Conference.

Family Week Held

The camp schedule began back on June 30 when a "family week" was observed under the supervision of the Rev. Paul Lorimer, dean. Prior to that there had been a two weeks' "work period" when volunteer workers came to prepare the camp for the summer season.

Various age groups have been scheduled for definite periods during the summer season and during the past two weeks there were 110 "Junior-Hi" young folks at the camp under Pastor Bruce Johnson, North Babylon, L. I. dean. This group included those in Grades 7, 8 and 9.

Beginning August 11 the "Senior-Hi" camp, those in Grades 10, 11, 12, will arrive in camp for two weeks' visit. Pastor Paul Laurell, will be dean. This group will be followed by the New York Conference Lutheran League Leadership School from August 18 to 25, and the New York Conference Lutheran League Convention from August 25 to September 1.

240 Acres of Beauty

The Camp, located on Ontonagon Trail at Mt. Tremper, comprises 240 acres of scenic beauty bordering on Esopus creek and extending back into the mountain country. It was formerly operated as Camp Wapanachki and has its own water supply from natural springs. Cabins built on the mountainside, surrounded by trees, house the visitors. The main building is built of stone and timber in an outstanding ecclesiastical design of architecture. On the grounds is a large swimming pool and other camp facilities.

A dining room, seating 200, together with offices, staff quarters, nurses infirmary and a good sized auditorium are in the main building.

On the wooded area is found an outdoor chapel, volleyball and tennis courts, baseball diamond, camp fire sites and nature trails.

Staff of Instructions

The camp property was acquired several months ago by the New York Conference. Camp Director the Rev. Arthur Frieberg, of Bergenfield, N. J., and a staff of assistants have since readied the premises for the season and presently the staff of camp instructors includes the Rev. Paul Anderson, Bayside, and the Rev. Lloyd Holt, Baltimore, Md., teachers in the Bible. The Rev. Paul Kroon, West Hempstead, and Miss Bertha Bystrom, Tenafly, N. J., are teachers of arts and crafts. Miss Claire Kvanne, Staten Island, lifeguard and teacher in swimming.

Professor Brynolf Lundholm, Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., teacher in music. Mrs. Martha Meyers, Bergenfield, N. J., registered nurse. Mrs. Agnes Johnson, Rock Island, Ill., dietitian. Cooks, Mrs. Pauline Kyler, Rock Island, Ill., and Mrs. Esther Ericksom, Jersey City, N. J.

Philosophy of Training

The senior counselor is the Rev. Carl O. Bostrom, who spent his first years as a minister in the saddle on an old Indian reservation of the Cree tribe opened to white settlers in Northern Saskatchewan, Canada. He says, "Boys are like young horses—they must be trained but you must do it in the spirit of love." That is the basic philosophy of the camp—all members on the staff are volunteer workers from various professions giving their vacation time to guide and train these boys and girls, many of them from our larger cities.

At sunrise every morning there is a flag raising ceremony and a morning prayer to start the new day in anticipation of a better day according to the promises of Almighty God.

All groups are supervised. Cabin counselors for boys are the Rev. Carl Bostrom, Bronx; the Rev. Jack Sersig, Staten Island; William O'Neill, North Babylon.

Cabin counselors for girls are Mrs. Joan Krause, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Marjorie Muldoon, Jersey City; Miss Patricia Pomeroy, Brooklyn; Miss Bertha Bystrom and Miss Alice Siegel, Bergenfield, N. J.; Mrs. Thor Kvanne, Staten Island; Mrs. William O'Neill, North Babylon; Miss Olga Stone, West Islip; Miss Marion Ronnerman, West Hempstead.

Student help in the dining room, kitchen and on the grounds is Jon Pierson, New York city; George Halverson, New York city; Walter Brauchle, Tenafly, N. J.; Kenneth Poupum, Tenafly, N. J.; Robert Schmeelcke, Tenafly, N. J.; David Johnson, Mt. Jewett, Pa.; Barry Bridges, Long Island. Head steward is Edward Leonard of Tenafly, N. J.

Other student help is Phyllis Gustafson, East Orange, N. J.; Lillian Anderson, New York city; Heinz Asmuss, East Orange, N. J.

Registrar is Raymond Pearson of West New York, N. J.; treasurer, Einar Berg of Bayonne, N. J.

PING PONG GAME—Joan Pomplun, Bergenfield, N. J.; Richard Berg, Dumont, N. J.; Anne Rowley, Syosset, N. Y. and Bud Weber, Pleasantville, N. Y., meet in the Recreation Room at the new Lutheran Youth Camp, Mt. Tremper, for a friendly game.

Hot Chicken, Cold Drinks Make Tasty Picnic Fare

NEW DUFFLE coolers enable this lovely young lady to have hot food and cold drinks for her excursion to the beach.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

We have licked the good food on a picnic problem.

The new duffel color bags make it easy to carry hot food in one and cold in the other.

Hot and Cold Picnic Menu:

(In smaller duffel cooler for hot food)—hot barbecued whole chickens. (In larger duffel cooler for cold food)—deviled eggs, whole ripe tomatoes, potato salad, cola carbonated drinks, chilled whole fruit, butter and rolls.

Barbecued Whole Chickens

Three broiler-fryer chickens, whole, 2 to 2½ pounds each, 2 teaspoons onion salt, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, ½ teaspoon ground pepper, ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce, ¼ cup Worcestershire sauce, 2 cans (6 ounces each) tomato paste, 2/3 cup vinegar, ½ cup salad oil, 2 cups chicken broth or water.

Hook wing tips behind shoulder joints onto back to expose thick breast meat to heat. Tie wings and any neck skin in place. Tie drumsticks to tail. Run spit lengthwise through body cavities. Place spit on rotisserie so that chickens are 9 to 12 inches from heat.

Meanwhile, prepare barbecue sauce. Mix remaining ingredients and heat to boiling. When chickens are almost fork-tender (1½ to 2 hours), brush well with the barbecue sauce. Sauce may also be put inside chickens for added flavor. Brush occasionally with sauce until chickens are done. Serve hot with remaining sauce.

TOMORROW'S DINNER:

Barbecued whole chickens, large hot buttered rolls, corn-on-cob, whole tomatoes, blackberry turnovers, coffee, tea, milk, carbonated beverages.

Contains anti-spasm stomach medicine prescribed most by doctors. Proved so safe, it is now available without a doctor's prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special)

—Now science announces a new way to relieve tense nervous stomach spasms that accompany so many attacks of acid indigestion. It not only sweetens the stomach and rids it of painful acid—but by direct action it relaxes and soothes the nerves throughout the digestive tract, both stomach and intestines.

Nervous "Lump" Vanishes

Stomach sufferers make such astonishing statements as, "That nervous 'lump' just seems to vanish!"—and, "I feel so relaxed and comfortable. No more butterflies in my stomach!"

This new kind of relief is made possible by a special medicine that soothes stomach nerves—widely prescribed by doctors, now obtainable without prescription. Now for the first time it is available in SMOOTHOL®.

Complete Relief—Or Money Back

SMOOTHOL, a pleasant-tasting mint-flavored tablet, neutralizes painful excess acid on contact—relieves heartburn. Mutual Opposes Milk Strike on Bitterness Score Board members of the 8,000 member Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives have gone on record as "unalterably opposed" to any strike action to force possible higher milk prices.

Directors of Mutual said they were in "complete sympathy" with hard-pressed dairymen but were pledged to support only "sound, sane and substantial milk marketing programs."

Only through such proper methods, the directors added, could farmers achieve permanent gains.

"Strikes create only confusion, loss of money, destruction of property, and untold bitterness among participating and non-participating farmers," the cooperative said.

Mutual's action, unanimously approved by the board, came after an all day meeting recently in Utica. The Federation's board is comprised entirely of dairy farmer representatives from each of Mutual's 38 New York and Pennsylvania milk cooperatives.

Plans Are Abandoned To Build Pulp Mill

Denver, (AP)—The U. S. regional forester said yesterday the J. & J. Rogers Co., of Ausable Forks, Essex County, N. Y., had abandoned its plan to build a pulp mill in western Colorado.

Clark said the firm reported it was unable to provide evidence of ability to build the mill. A contract with the company for the purchase of three million cords of beetle-killed spruce timber had been cancelled, the forester said.

Clark said the forest service would keep half of the company's $50,000 surety bond as liquidated damages.

The Rogers firm obtained the contract for the timber, estimated at 1½ billion board feet, in April 1956 with the bid that officials said might total $9,750,000 over a 30-year period.

Skin Diver Brings Up Wallet Lost in 1955

Lake George (AP)—While skin diving recently off Dollar Island in the Lake George Narrows, Ovide Prince Jr. of Glens Falls came up with a wallet that he thought at first was one he lost there two years ago.

But it wasn't. It belonged to the Rev. Peter J. Dunn of Bethlehem, Pa. In it were $20 in bills—in fragile condition—religious medals, identification papers and a still-clear picture of a priest serving at an outside Mass.

Indications were that the wallet was lost about two years ago. A calendar and automobile driver's license were dated 1955.

Prince has written to Father Dunn.

Man Rescues Son, Then Drowns In Swimming

State police said Neff went back into the river to swim after he had hauled his foundering son to shore. They said Neff swam into the river, waved his arms for a moment, then disappeared below the surface. His body was recovered an hour later.

Neff lives in Phoenix.

The President, a summer bachelor this week while his wife is in Denver, took a party of friends and staff members with him to Griffith Stadium—his second visit to the ball park this year.

Double His Propaganda

Washington (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia is reported to have delivered a new 300,000 watt radio transmitter to Egypt. With it, President Nasser can double the power of his propaganda broadcasts. Central Gets Right To Cancel Two Trains

The railroad said patronage was light during this period.

The Commodore Vanderbilt operates daily except Sunday between New York City and Albany and points west. Another train will carry its passengers from Albany to New York.

For our food sales in the future, we may have to rely on synthetics, which would be nourishing, but not particularly appetizing. But it doesn't make much difference, since we are raising a generation which, thanks to watching TV at mealtime, doesn't know what it's eating, anyway.

Medical Director Stresses Need for More Volunteers To Cheer Chronically Ill

There is a great need for neighborhood service to the chronically ill and infirm, according to a talk heard by the Rehabilitation Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Addressing the group in the association office 74 John street, Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, said volunteers can be of great help to those in wheelchairs or bedridden.

The meeting was called to discuss possibilities of expanding and coordinating patients' services at the Ulster County Infirmary on Flatbush avenue.

The infirmary is maintained for the chronically ill by the Ulster County Welfare Department.

Reports Given

Mrs. William H. McNamee, chairman of the rehabilitation committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, reported on the services carried on by her group at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. She said it is comprised of representatives of various civic organizations. Different committee members take care of monthly entertainment, visiting patients, cakes, sale of articles made by patients, patients and clinic service.

An occupational therapist is also employed to teach the patients arts and crafts. Many articles made by them are sold, Mrs. McNamee said. The therapist works under the direction of medical superintendent. His salary is paid through Christmas Seal funds.

Need Is Stressed

Miss Hazel M. Steed executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, expressed appreciation to the many persons who have shown an interest. She spoke of the great need and read several reports from the National and State Departments, showing that problems of the aging and the chronically ill were among our greatest challenges in public health work.

Charles Tarsia, occupational therapist at the Ulster County TB Hospital, who lately has been employed at the Ulster County Infirmary through funds provided by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, told of his work and its therapeutic value for patients in both institutions.

Edward Murray, Ulster county commissioner of welfare was present and gave a word picture of the Ulster County Infirmary and the patients. He also spoke of the value of volunteers and how much the people at the infirmary needed their services. Mr. Murray asked that the Rehabilitation Committee of the Ulster County TB & Health Association expand its program and coordinate the efforts of many volunteers interested and willing to help these chronically ill but appreciative patients.

Visits Mentioned

Several people spoke of their visits to the infirmary. The work carried on by the staff in both institutions was highly commended. All those present expressed a willingness to assist in this coordinated volunteer program.

It was planned to have the Rehabilitation Committee of the Ulster County TB & Health Association continue its present program and while cooperating with the official agencies, to enlarge the various subcommittees in order to carry on the activities for the Ulster County TB Hospital patients and extend these services to the patients at the Ulster County Infirmary may also participate in the program which has been so successfully carried on these many years by the Christmas Seals group at the Tuberculosis Hospital.

Plan Assistance

Those organizational representatives who responded to the call to assist in the program were: Capt. F. Meitrodt, Lions Club; Miss Florence Cordts, Mrs. John Cordts, YWCA; Mrs. Florence Powell, Miss Irene Kaplan, Mrs. Richard Kalish, B'nai Brith Auxiliary; Mrs. R. E. Gardiner, Jaycees; Mrs. H. P. Van Wageningen, Council of Church Women; Mrs. Anna Hasselman, Mrs. L. Jung, Licensed Practical Nurses; Mrs. Rita Fisk, Miss Hazel Green, Mrs. Betty Seism, Mrs. Lillian Shultis, VFW; Mrs. Mildred Odell, Seventh Day Adventist; Mrs. F. W. Holcomb, Children's Home; Mrs. Betty Sanford, Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Margaret DuBois, Marbletown American Legion Auxiliary; the Rev. H. Christiana, Ministerial Association; Mrs. Thomas Goodman, Home Demonstration Department; Mrs. Charles Williams, Cordts Hose; Edmund Rochford, TB & Health Association Board; Mrs. Ethel McNamee, Hurley Nursing Committee; Mrs. Jacob Myers, Democratic Women's Club; Mrs. Lillian Feldman, Ladies' Auxiliary United Commercial Travelers; Charles Tarsia, Occupational Therapist, Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital; Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, director, Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

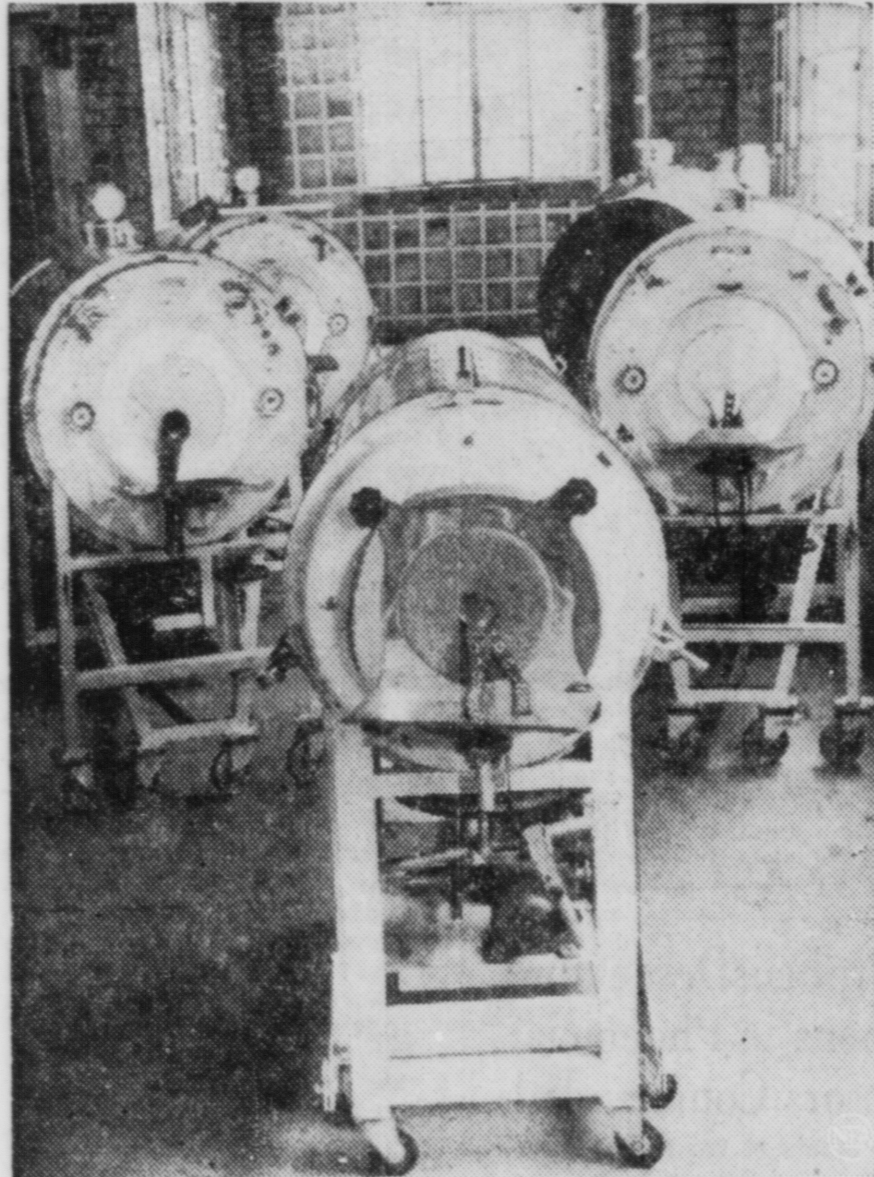

Also attending were Mrs. Joseph Fowler, William H. McNamee, Raphael Klein, Miss Katherine Murphy, Mrs. Ruth Donohue, Mrs. Dorothy Matthews and Edward Murray, Commissioner of Welfare.

Loft's Candy Shop Closing Until Fall

According to an announcement from Miss Mary G. McDevitt, public relations director for Loft's Candy Shops, the local store at 316 Wall street was to close today.

The press release indicated that the candy chain has plans to return to Kingston in the fall, and in the meantime will take care of local trade by mail orders through its Long Island City shop at 38-38 Ninth street.

PERMANENTLY RETIRED?—Five iron lungs—the mechanical lungs of polio victims—gather dust at Cleveland's City Hospital. As of July 24, Cleveland, for the first time in many years, had no polio cases. Dr. J. Glen Smith, city health commissioner, said that some 500,000 adults and children had had at least two shots of the Salk vaccine, and added, "I'm keeping my fingers crossed that it is the vaccine that has kept the disease away this year and last." In 1956, Cleveland had nine cases as of July 24.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going through some of the Kingston Argus newspapers, I ran across this item in the Wednesday, September 26, 1894 issue.

"The members of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are making ready to commemorate the 117th anniversary of the burning of Kingston by a reception at the Senate House and a flight to Hurley on October 16. Invitations have been issued for the occasion."

Item continues: "Guests from out of town will be met at the West Shore train by a committee and escorted to the Senate House, where luncheon will be served from 12 to 1:30 o'clock, after which an address of welcome and a short program will be given. Promptly at 3 o'clock carriages will be taken for a drive to Hurley, over the same route taken by the ancestors of the Daughters when they fled for shelter and refuge from the flames of 1777."

In Hurley the guests will be entertained by Mrs. James D. Wynkoop in one of the old historic houses. Hon. William Lounsbery has written a graceful letter of acceptance in reply to an invitation to the Senate House Association to join in the commemoration."

Another item from same paper: "The Ladies Aid Society of the First Reformed Church will make an excursion to New York city on the steamer, James V. Baldwin, on Thursday, October 4. Tickets for the round trip are $1.00, good until Saturday's return trip. This will allow the passengers three days in New York, if they wish."

Another item: "Mrs. Rebecca Beamer, mother of Mrs. S. D. Noyes, has purchased the triangular lot of the Schoonmaker estate, corner Wall and Henry streets."

This property is 84 feet front by 536 feet deep, and will be cut up into smaller lots for sale. Mrs. Beamer has engaged architect, A. F. Mason, to draw up plans and specifications for a handsome house to be erected on the corner of Wall and Henry streets 34 by 44 feet in size. That location, no doubt has changed greatly in the 63 years since the 1894 Argus was printed.

"Miss Frances M. Block of Abruyn street, has been presented with a handsome upright Steinway piano by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Block," item from the social column. In those days most advertisements seemed to be from Rondout. One large advertisement reads: "Louis Evans, The Working Man's Friend, wishes to inform the public that he has removed from 56 Broadway, to 36 Broadway, opposite Abel street, Rondout. Where he has a much larger and lighter store. Remember you can get a ready made suit for $3.00 and up. Never-Rip Pants from 50 cents up. Last but not least, we are making wool suits to measure for $12.00. What we want to impress upon the public is that the Tailoring

Teamster Official Gets Up to 10 Years

New York (AP)—A Teamsters local official, convicted last month of extortion, was sentenced yesterday to serve 5 to 10 years in state prison.

Alfred Reger, 45, secretary-treasurer of Local 522, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, received the penalty from General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen.

Reger, of the Bronx, was convicted June 5 of extorting $1,250 from the Special Box and Lumber Co. of Manhattan and $500 from the Felter Coal and Lumber Co. in Bogota, N. J.

The shakedowns were allegedly paid as "the price of labor peace."

282,100 Vehicles Used K-R Bridge Since Opening

A total of 282,100 vehicles used the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, between Feb. 2, its opening date, and June 30, the New York State Bridge Authority reported today.

The authority noted an increase of 8.6 per cent in travel on all bridges under its control through comparison of totals with the same period in 1956. Gross revenue on all was $984,309 this year as against $931,610 in 1956.

The Mid-Hudson Bridge, Poughkeepsie, showed a 2.4 per cent loss, the Rip Van Winkle at Catskill gained 6 per cent, and the Bear Mountain clocked 4.4 per cent more vehicles.

All spans clocked 3,423,997 vehicles this year compared to 3,152,437 in 1956. Net revenues before bond service were $714,964 and $705,883.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff span, apparently because of its newness, clocked 177,012 from Feb.

2 to March 31 and only 105,088 for the latter three months.

Work on Connecting Link

The report noted that only minor clean-up work and painting remain to be done on the local bridge. It also made note of the start of work on the connecting of the strip of road to join Routes 9W and 32 near the west approach road of the bridge.

Work is being done by the Grandview Construction Corp., of Mt. Vernon, which also has a contract for building a road on the east side of the Rip Van Winkle Bridge to connect with Route 9.

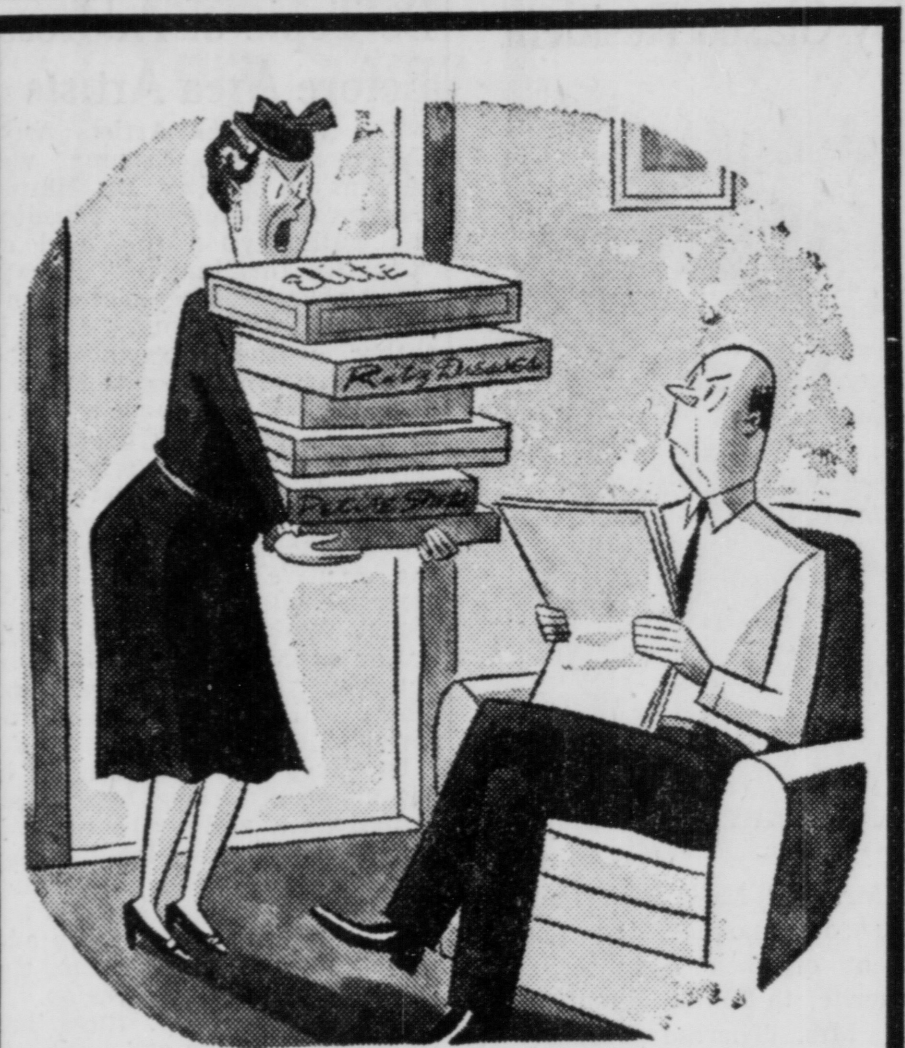

The 9W-32 project is due to be finished by Oct. 1, 1958, and that in the Catskill area by Dec. 1, 1958.

Six-month totals on three spans, excluding Kingston, were: Rip Van Winkle 642,066 in 1957 and 605,361; the Mid-Hudson, 1,855,811, this year, and 1,903,303 in 1956, and the Bear Mountain 644,020 this year and 616,365 in 1956.

Miss Porto is employed by IBM in Kingston.

Her fiancé is employed by Paul Giglia, general contractor.

Creative Mind Will Be Topic of Address
Before Area Artists

The Woodstock Artists Association Gallery Evening will have as its speaker, Dr. Harold Rugg, distinguished educator and authority in the field of "Creative Imagination," who for many years was associated with Columbia University, and is author of many books in the psychological and social science.

In his talk Dr. Rugg will give an appraisal of the psychiatric concept that creative work is the result of defense and escape. He will also speak on automation and television in relation to the creative mind. The lecture material will be drawn from Dr. Rugg's forthcoming "The Imagination of Man" upon which he has spent the last five years and which will be published in the spring.

Dr. Rugg has made studies in the effect of drugs, hypnosis, clairvoyance and extra sensory perception on the imagination. He has studied the quiet mind of concentration developed in the East in the last 3000 years and explored what came from the quiet mind of concentration.

In his search Dr. Rugg has gone into the lives and works of American creative artists both men and women and scientists. Their biographies and autobiographies have been studied as well as the end results of their efforts. In this search museums, concerts, theatres, motion pictures and the best jazz have been seen and heard, always with the question, what is the nature of the creative act? Cezanne, Einstein, Picasso, George Sand, Edna St. Vincent Millay are a few of the hundred lives upon which Dr. Rugg has based his conclusions.

MRS. JASON OAKLEY DECKER (Hutchins photo)

Lt. Jason Oakley Decker of Kerhonkson
Weds Massachusetts Resident July 20

Miss Mary Anne Russo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Russo of Watertown, Mass., became the bride of Lt. Jason Oakley Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Decker of Kerhonkson in St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, Mass., on Saturday, July 20 before a Nuptial Mass.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Paul J. McGovern, pastor.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a Victorian gown of Madonna blue peau de soie and imported Alencon lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline edged with scallops of lace. The sleeves were deep pouf of peau de soie appliqued with lace. The full skirt, which featured an overskirt of lace, terminated in a long train. Her headpiece was a mantilla of pure silk illusion edged with handclipped lace. The bride carried a cascade of Eucharist lilies.

Attending the bride were her sister, Elaine Russo as maid of honor and two former classmates, Jeanette McAuliffe and Patricia Carthy. A cousin of the bride, Joanne Frissora, was the junior bridesmaid.

Attendees were gowned alike in buttercup yellow organza designed with a square neckline and short sleeves with an applique trim of Swiss embroidery with apron effect. The full skirts were waltz length. They carried cascades of roses. Their headpieces were made of daisies.

Best man was Capt. William Decker, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers included Capt. Herman Methfessel, Lt. Edward J. Palmer Jr., Philip Decker, brother of the bridegroom and Francis Frissora, uncle of the bride.

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

SHE MUST BE HARD TO PLEASE

Dear Mrs. Post: About a week ago I went to a bridal shower (miscellaneous) for my cousin's fiancée. The day following the shower the bride-to-be telephoned at least eight of the guests who were at the shower and asked them if they would exchange their gifts for something else. Some of the reasons given were difference in taste, wrong color, duplicates or just no use for it. I'd very much like to know whether or not this was the correct thing to do?

Answer: To ask that a very few gifts be exchanged because they are the wrong size or are duplicates is permissible, but to ask that a great many be exchanged is unthinkable.

A Hostess Instinctive Gesture
Dear Mrs. Post: When unexpected company drops in of an evening, what is expected of a hostess? Must refreshments of any sort be served, such as a cold drink or coffee and cake? Is one considered a poor hostess if she offers nothing to her guests?

Answer: A good hostess would offer even unexpected guests something even if it be only a glass of water with some expression like, "Oh dear, you have caught me with absolutely nothing in the refrigerator. I can offer you a glass of cold water."

A Very Important Rule

Dear Mrs. Post: I expect to be traveling shortly and will be staying in hotels. One of my stops will be in a city where my boy friend is stationed. I'll be there for about five days. When my boy friend comes to call for me at the hotel, does he come to my room or does he wait in the lobby. If he does come to the door and I am not quite ready to leave, should I ask him to come in, or have him wait in the lobby?

Answer: He should wait in the lobby until you come down.

A Woman's Signature

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please discuss in your column the correct manner in which a woman signs her name after marriage. Does Mary Cynthia Brown sign as Mary Brown Smith or as Mary Cynthia Smith?

Answer: Properly she signs Mary Brown Smith.

How should one write a note accepting an invitation? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Forms of model notes, invitations and their acceptance are included in leaflet

'Orpheus Descending'
Opens in Phoenicia;
Actors Commended

Members of the Phoenicia Playhouse undertook a tremendous task when they decided to present "Orpheus Descending" by Tennessee Williams and from reports received they came through with flying colors.

Outstanding performances were turned in by the leads Ann Hamilton, John Ramondetta and Katherine Helmond.

Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig of the Kingston Freeman staff who attended said, "the play was superbly done and the entire cast should be commended for its high quality."

The play, in its original form, was "Battle of Angels" which closed amidst scandalous reviews in Boston in 1940. Whatever insulted playgoers must have been eliminated in the rewriting for it is now a highly moralizing work completely appreciated by its audiences. It opened in New York at the Martin Beck Theatre on March 22, 1957 and was staged by Harold Clurman and produced by Robert Whitehead.

The story is set in a southern town and involves a woman storekeeper and a vagabond guitar player who comes in off the highway. It is a tale full of small town realities and vivid characters and is written in the best style of Tennessee Williams.

The play will continue on stage through August 4 with curtain at 8:40 p. m.

Other members of the cast include Lonnie Modica, Tommie Russell, Dan Legant, Paul Kielar, Jean Asche, Sonia Malkine, Sarah Mulligan, Nick Sowka, Elwin Causey, Mef Gersoni, Bill Robinson, Jane Smith, Michael Bihari, Maury Zait and Lacy Hedrick.

In the lobby of the theatre is an art exhibit by Mrs. Udise Wakely who studied at Temple University, Chicago Art Institute and the Art Student's League. She also studied and painted in Mexico and is at present preparing for her next "one-man" show which will consist of paintings and sculptures of the Toltec and Aztec cultures, past and present.

Scouts Complete Advancement at Camp Tri-Mount

Fifteen scouts completed second class rank and 24 completed merit badges in outdoor skills to highlight activities at Camp Tri-Mount. The following completed their tenderfoot requirements: Gerald Engstrom, Norman Ritter and Harry Hornbeck of Troop 18, St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The following scouts completed second class requirements: John Modjeska, Ernest Gehr, and Robert Matthews, of Troop 17, Tillson School; Norman Ritter, James Costello, Richard Netter, and Michael Loughran, of Troop 18; William Mills and Arlington Finch of Troop 26; Port Even Reformed Church; Richard Morgan and Bruce VanVoorhis of Troop 38, Saugerties Methodist Church; Michael Gabrieli of Troop 40, Post 187 American Legion, Athens; Milan Laga, Troop 54, Post 984 American Legion, Hunter; Stanley Cable, Troop 62, Pine Hill-Big Indian-Oliveria Fire Depts.

The following scouts or explorers completed merit badges: Swimming merit badge completed by Douglas Robinson, Troop 38; Lifesaving merit badge completed by John Dailey, John Ellis, and John Mannello, Troop 26; Jon O'Bryon and Thomas Swinford, Troop 11, St. James Methodist Church, Kingston; Richard Kurtz, Troop 70, Interchurch Committee, Highland and Michael Hyer, Troop 40; Canoe-ing merit badge was completed by John Dailey, Troop 26; Forestry merit badge completed by Patrick Lockhart, Robert Brucher, Daniel Schaffer and Richard Brucher, of Troop 70; Keith Knudsen, Troop 16; Wildlife management merit badge completed by Rolf Kruckas, John Potter and John Mannello, of Troop 26; Gerald Panzera of Troop 70, John Swinford, Troop 6, First Baptist Church of Kingston, and John Brockbank, Troop 22; Pioneering merit badge completed by Rolf Kruckas, Troop 26; Cooking merit badge, Carl Pihala, Post 130 Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Camping merit badge completed by Michael Hyer, Troop 40, Henry Hornbeck, Post 130.

A highlight activity of the week was a "lost boy" scare. Commissioner Joseph Shapiro and John Sheets of the camp staff prepared the "victim," Bruce Niecamp of Troop 41, Grandview P.T.A., Catskill, with "realistic first aid" wounds. These consisted of glass imbedded in right hand, cut left arm and badly bruised left leg.

By means of "realistic-first-aid" materials, waxes, paste rouge and other matter wounds which can't be told from the real thing are made up.

It was discovered at supper that Bruce was "missing" and the entire camp was organized as a search party. After some period of combing the woods, gullies, and steep slopes of Camp Tri-Mount, Bruce was found. His wounds were given first aid and treatment while a doctor was called. The doctor checked the "victim" and had him transferred by stretcher to the camp infirmary.

Actually 'Made-up'
It was only then that it was revealed Bruce was "made-up" and not really injured. All the campers had thought this was real and had acted in a most credible manner.

The scouts were then given an explanation and demonstration of the realistic-first-aid methods and a review of the things they did right and wrong in the search and treatment. Among the other camp activities, Troop inspection awards were as follows: First place, Mohawk Troopsite, James Dallas, scoutmaster; Second place, Cayuga Troopsite, Fred Aalto, scoutmaster; Third place, tie, between Troop 18, Robert Hill and Father Farrelly, scoutmasters, and Troop 26, William Mills, scoutmaster. "Mohawk" also was the winner of the Aqua Maneuvers.

The Paul Bunyan Award for skill with the felling axe was earned by Carlton Deyo of Troop 16, Stone Ride, Michael Hyer, Troop 40, Henry Hornbeck, Post 130, and William Mills, Troop 26. Scouts are enjoying Camp Tri-Mount, particularly the new nature lodge, canoes and row boats. There is some space available in the 5, 6, and 7 weeks of camp. Inquire at the scout office, 260 Fair street, Kingston. These weeks begin Sunday, August 4, August 11, and August 18.

Saugerties Club Plans Heavy Posting for Fall Deer Season

In a move purportedly designed to curb the "slaughter of doe deer and fawns" during the upcoming antlerless deer season in New York state, the Saugerties Fish and Game Club has readied 1,000 posting signs to place on lands throughout the county.

The Saugerties Club, as well as Phoenicia, has steadfastly opposed an antlerless season for Ulster and threatened to post all available woodlands to forestall what they predict will be a wholesale slaughter.

The action taken Monday night at the regular meeting of the Saugerties club at the Saugerties municipal building is the first step toward an intensification of the posting program.

Seek Property Listings
Vincent Berzal, posting chairman, reported the 1,000 signs would be posted as soon as a listing is available of all property owners who authorize posting of their property.

At the recent tri-county meeting at Napanoch, the Phoenicia and Saugerties clubs indicated they would launch an intensified posting campaign if the permit ratio set by the Conservation Department exceeded a 2 to 1 ratio (two does for every buck taken in 1957).

It was brought out at the meeting that landowners who would like their lands posted may contact Mr. Berzal or any of the club officers, Walter B. Pettinger, Frank C. Sloboda, Harold Van Voorhis or John Kaminski.

In making contact with landowners, it was emphasized that the contact man not tell the owner that hunting of antlerless deer would be eliminated on his property. Landowners will be advised that the Saugerties club is on record opposing the killing of antlerless deer and that most of the members will abide by the decision of the majority. However, the club cannot guarantee that all of its members will honor the club's stand. The club has more than 300 members and it would be extremely difficult to enforce such a ruling and vouch for the sportsmanship of each member. It was pointed out that the landowners can be advised that posting will certainly cut down the hunting pressure of outsiders and non-members.

Carlton B. King, president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county reported on the tri-county meeting of sportsmen at Napanoch July 9.

An important point brought out in the report was the fact that a big game license is not required in order to purchase the special antlerless deer permit for the one-day open season. However, a big game license is needed to use the permit in the field.

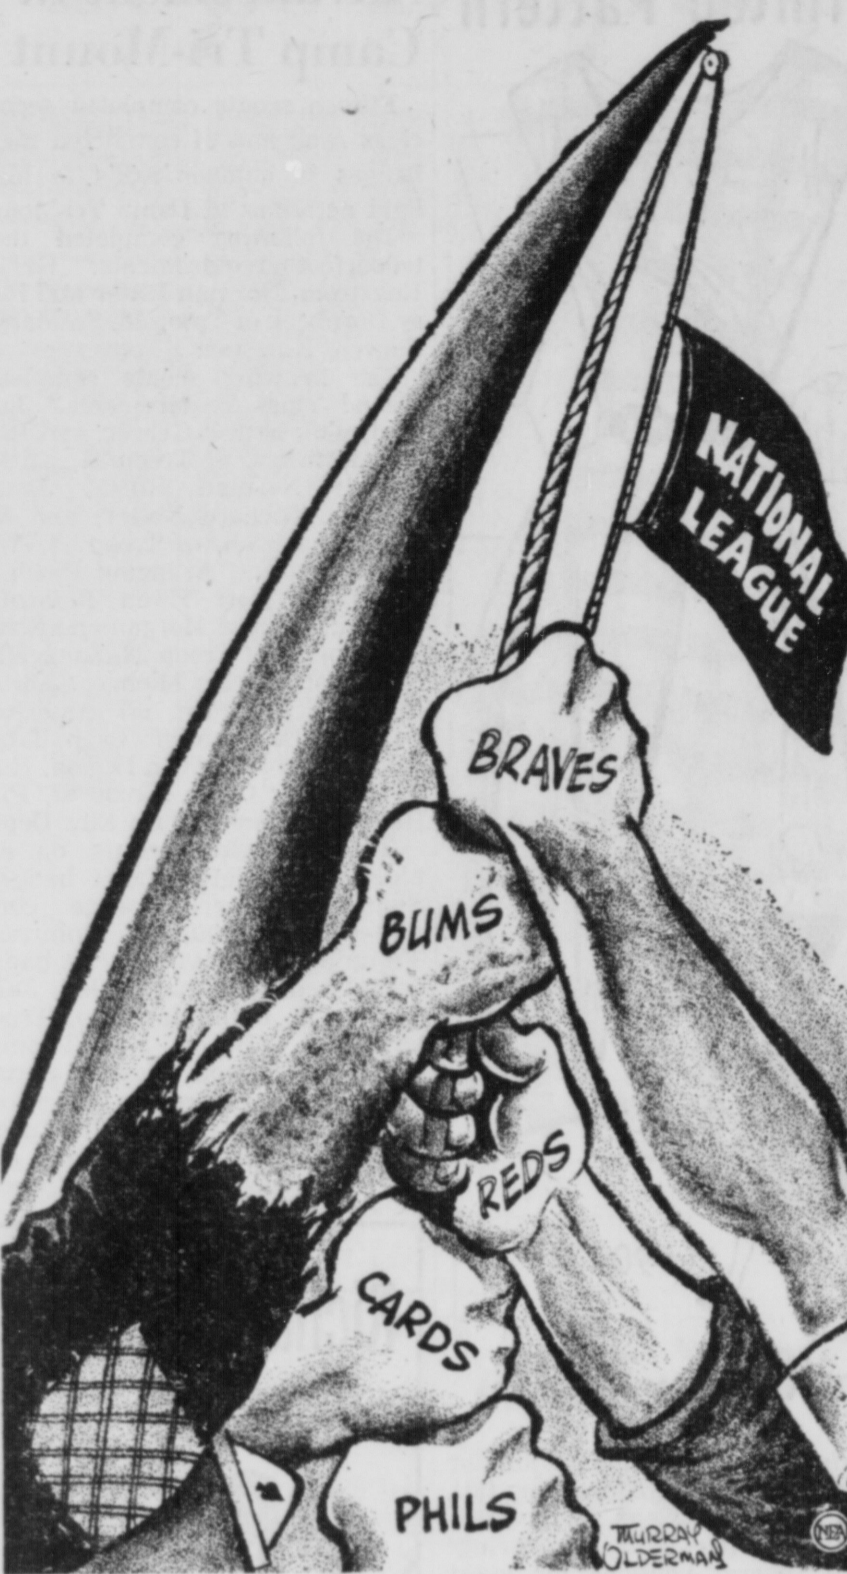

There was considerable discussion about raising the club dues by $1 and setting aside the increase towards the clubhouse building fund. Arthur Sperl, chairman of the site location committee reported that some favorable sites are available and urged the club to take early action in securing the land it needs for a clubhouse site.

Roy Longendyke, chairman of the pheasant committee was authorized to purchase 75 male pheasants to be set out in the Saugerties area prior to the hunting season.

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, guaranteed $175,000 for his 10th-round knockout of Tommy Hurricane Jackson Monday at the Polo Grounds, yesterday accepted 40 per cent of an annuity gate at a cost of $51,140 to him and his manager, Gus D'Amato.

"I am doing it with Floyd's approval for personal reasons," D'Amato said, though later he explained he owed this gesture to Promoter Emil Lence to prevent a red-hot bath on the promotion.

As a result of D'Amato's gesture Lence said he would show an approximate $20,000 profit from his first big-time fight production.

A crowd of only 14,458 paid $134,649 ($156,936 gross), to which TV added $175,000. Patterson's share (40 per cent) was $123,859 instead of the guaranteed $175,000; Jackson's 20 per cent was $61,929.

Campbell Poised For Record Run

Canandaigua (AP)—Speeding Donald Campbell stood alerted at Canandaigua Lake today where, if wind and water permit, he will attempt to break his world water speed record in his Bluebird II.

Last year, at Lake Coniston, England, the 36-year-old Britisher set the present mark of 225.36 miles per hour in the Bluebird—a jet-powered hydroplane which he calls "The Animal."

The record speed represented an average of two runs over a measured mile.

At Lake Coniston, Campbell was clocked at 286 m.p.h. during the first mile. His second run was just over 164 m.p.h.

Campbell, with the two-and-a-half ton, 26-foot, Bluebird and a crew of engineers arrived in Canandaigua June 27. The Bluebird, except when needed for trial runs, has been on public display.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

The first thing a gent does when he's buying a fly rod is to switch it back and forth.

It doesn't tell the customer much about the instrument. Or does it? Many a genius has gone down the pike trying to relate vibrational characteristics to the performance of a fly rod.

An Englishman named Hawley started the ball rolling many years ago by clamping the rod in a horizontal position. After bending it to a certain point, he let the rod go and counted how many times the stick rebounded against his free hand.

Hawley believed the more vibrations a rod made, the faster it would cast. This never made much sense to me because there was no line on the rod. In any case, the rod was considered a vibrating cantilever beam, and researchers began measuring rods in wave lengths. The ideal was a quarter wave length.

Some Fancy Measuring

The next logical step was to measure the bend or deflection of a rod in order to have some means of establishing what made these wave lengths. A man named Halford did this with some fancy measuring.

A Frenchman named Robin carried both Hawley and Halford one step further and measured via what he called the "flexibility index."

Now, this is a cute bit of mathematics that I won't go into. I used to sit up nights with graph paper and slide rule trying to follow Robin and while my answers came out right, the rods that got the best score couldn't slap a ping pong ball over the TV set.

So the best advice I can give anybody who intends to buy a fly rod is to wiggle it. If it feels good—buy it.

Sentimental Journey

Kennebunkport, Maine (AP)—Nowadays, when trolley tracks are laid, rather than torn up, that's news! Workmen are spiking down a half a mile of rails beside U. S. Route 1 in Kennebunkport. The rails will give trolley enthusiasts a chance to ride old-fashioned open cars at the Seashore Electric Railway Museum. The two cars to be used came from Connecticut. On exhibition at the museum are 60 cars of various types—from the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

A New Zealand cable car may soon be added. A non-profit undertaking, the museum is owned by the New England Electric Railway Historical Society, Inc.

NOTICE OF COMPLETION OF ASSESSMENT ROLL

Notice is hereby given that the completed Assessment Roll for the current year, 1957, is on file in the office of the City of Kingston at the City Hall, where

The sports-minded and the fair-minded about us must experience a feeling of revulsion and sense the inherent tragedy that is the lot of a fellow member of the human race who is referred to as "The Animal."

The Cynics who cover the boxing beat hung that undignified moniker on child-like, illiterate and inept Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson long before he was subjected to brutal punishment by the swift fists of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Monday night at the Polo Grounds.

Not even one of Bill Rigney's .250 hitters could have inflicted as much havoc on Jackson as Patterson did in slightly more than 28 minutes of one of the most one-sided heavyweight bouts in recent years.

The ringside pagans squealed with delight as Patterson, with the cold calculation of an executioner, beat Jackson into a bloody pulp. There is no disposition here to criticize Patterson. The system is at fault. Two strong men of equal calibre and fairly matched often make the heavyweight championship one of the most thrilling of all sports spectacles.

That was a spectacle of another kind Monday night . . . one fraught with tragedy and cloaked in the virtual disgrace that belongs to the heavyweight division these days. The once-proud division that set the tempo for all boxing has been reduced to a shambles by the inept machinations of the syndicates and the mobs.

After the tragic Jackson what next for Patterson? Rademacher? Eddie Machen, who is woefully inadequate? Willie Pastrano, who can't punch his way out of a cobweb? Or is it that guy down in Cut and Shoot, Texas. Now, what's his name?

Patterson embarks on his career as champion with many questions unanswered, the most crucial of which is: Can he take a good punch? That question may remain unanswered for many years to come, judging by the explosive qualities of the current crop of "contenders." But we think Floyd Patterson, who must suffer the ordeal of Rocky Marciano when folks ask who did he ever lick, will become a great champion.

Any lad who can surmount a sordid boyhood like Patterson did has the staying power that can't miss paying dividends in the long run.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Saugerties Fish and Game Club lists beauties of 14½, 15 and 15½ inches in its trout pool. Incidentally, about 10 per cent, or 11,184,000, of the 118,366,000 Americans who are 12 years or more of age are hunters, according to research by Remington Arms. A nation-wide survey in 1955 revealed that one in every five men 18 years old or more took to the field for game, and one in every 128 women the same age bracket went along. And there is no reported instance of any wife mistaking her husband for a baboon. . . . Next of the current crop of young athletes to leave for service is Renni Giannuzzi, the talented young southpaw who starred for Kingston High and the Kingston Colonials of the New York-New Jersey League. Renni heads for a Navy hitch on August 15.

Of Men and Mice:

Tri-State softball tournament scheduled in Watervliet, Aug. 25. . . . Carl Braun, who led the Knicks in scoring for seven years, has signed his 1957-58 contract. The ex-Colgate holds the Knicks' all-time single game high of 47 points, made against Providence in 1947. Braun's best season was 1955-56 when he totalled 1112 points for a 15.4 average, 12th best in the NBA. He was voted to the all-star teams for the last five East-West pro classics, and was named to the NBA second team in 1948 and 1954. . . . Artie Sullivan, the veteran manager of the Hudson River State Hospital baseball squad at Poughkeepsie, laments the dearth of good semi-pro opposition. His hospital wrecking crew has beaten all available bookies and he is casting an anxious eye toward Kingston, once a steady client on his Saturday afternoon schedule. Any local team interested in playing at the hospital? . . . Progress is slow. Four thousand years of civilization and not more than six good shortstops in the country.

Kivett Medalist

In Publinx Golf

Hershey, Pa., (AP)—Bud Kivett is medalist today in the 32nd National Public Links Golf Championship.

Three players who wound up one stroke behind Kivett in the 36-hole qualifying test over the short but tough Hershey Park course were James Junie Buxbaum of Memphis, Tenn., the defending champion; Dr. Sam Vack, of Denver, Colo., and Jack S. S. Chun, a short chubby Hawaiian, who slyly boasts that he has won the Chinese championship of Hawaii five times.

Dr. Don Keith, of San Diego, Calif., came in one stroke farther back with 143.

Match play began with two 18-hole rounds today. Medalist Kivett opposed Stanley Hobert of Austin, Tex., who qualified at 145 in the opening round. Keith faced George Roddy Sr., of Indianapolis, a 146 shooter.

Reds Sign Player

Cincinnati, July 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today signed Art Baker, 19, a second baseman from Middletown, Ohio, to a 1958 contract with their Valsala farm in the Class C California League.

Ellenville Tops Esopus, 5-3, to Gain LL Final

ALL-NLL Contest Halted in Third; Resumes Tonight

Ellenville advanced to the finals of the county Little League tournament with a come-from-behind 5-3 victory over the Esopus Legion small fry team yesterday at Ellenville.

The other semi-final round contest between the Kingston Americans and Nationals was halted in the third inning because of rain with the ALL in front, 2-0. The suspended game will be picked up from the point of the interruption tonight at 6 o'clock at the Jaycee field.

Howell Homers

Dave Howell's solo homer to deep center in the top of the sixth inning touched off a three-run rally and hauled Ellenville from a 3-2 deficit. Wayne Johnson was the victim of the sudden outburst and went down to defeat despite hurling a creditable four-hitter.

Duane Brackman surrendered a half dozen hits and dueling Johnson almost evenly until his mates could muster the necessary ammo to pull it out. Brackman struck out seven to Johnson's 10.

All the hits in the game with the exception of Howell's homer, were singles. Paul Tirc of Esopus was the only player with more than one.

Fielding Helps Brackman

Sparkling fielding helped Brackman out of several jams. Conversely, Johnson was victimized by costly boots behind him.

A goodly throng of about 300 witnessed the thriller which was played in the fast time of one hour and 30 minutes.

Vernon J. Kelder, tournament director, announced that the championship contest has been shifted to Thursday night at Canfield Field in Saugerties at 6 o'clock. The game was originally set for tonight.

The winner of the title game will earn the right to meet the Dutchess county champs Saturday at the Armory field at 2 o'clock.

Judge Cashin Adjourns IBC Suit to Aug. 13

JUDGE JOHN M. CASHIN

Federal Judge John M. Cashin of Kingston yesterday adjourned until Aug. 13 a hearing on a motion by James D. Norris, Arthur M. Wirtz, the International Boxing Clubs of Chicago and the Madison Square Garden Corporation, who were found guilty of violating the anti-trust laws.

The two individuals and corporations were declared a monopoly March 8 by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan. Last June 24 he ordered the dissolution of the New York and Illinois IBC, and ordered Norris and Wirtz to divest themselves of all stockholdings in Madison Square Garden within five years.

The motion filed on July 12 by the promoters and corporations was a request to have Judge Ryan set aside his ruling of March 8. Judge Ryan granted the promoters a 60-day stay of that order, however, to allow them to appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Ryan currently is sitting in Federal Court at Seattle and is not expected back in New York before September. The case was referred to Judge Cashin for action at yesterday's hearing.

GOOD NEWS FOR PETE—Pete Rademacher smiles as he displays newspaper headlines on Floyd Patterson's victory over Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. He is shown in Columbus, Ga., (July 30) where he has been training since early in month. Headlines mean that Pete will get a chance to fight Patterson for the heavyweight championship when they meet in Seattle, Wash., on August 22. Pete will move his camp near Seattle soon. Miami 10-Rounder Ortega Pick Over Keed In TV Bout

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Tonight's nationally-televised fight could be billed as a battle between two former child prodigies—Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Gasper Indian Ortega of Mexico.

Gavilan, now 31, claims he started fighting as an amateur at age 11 and turned professional when he was 16. He has had 137 bouts, losing only 27.

Ortega, born in Mexicali on Oct. 21, 1936, says he quit a bul-fighting career at 15 to turn ring fighter. He has won 40 of 49 professional fights and will be a slight favorite over the former champion.

Ortega has twice defeated former welter champion Tony DeMarco and claims victories over such fighters as Gene Poirier and Isaac Logart.

Titleholder 3 Years
Gavilan, one of the best fighters ever to come out of Cuba, held the title from 1951 to 1954, defending it successfully six times before losing to Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia.

The Cuban bolo puncher also defeated Tiger Jones, Eduardo Lausé, Gil Turner, Chico Vejar and Carmen Basilio. He has never been knocked out.

The fight, promoted by Chris Dundee and the International Boxing Club, will be scored on the 10-point must system, with 10 points to the winner of each round and 9 or less to the loser.

ABC will carry the fight on a nationwide hookup with the 10-round event starting at 10 p. m.

Players' Lawyer Raps NFL Policy As 'Monstrosity'

Washington (AP)—Creighton Miller, the ex-Notre Dame back, told Congress today that pro football players have been mousetrapped by what he called dictatorial policies of National Football League NFL club owners.

Miller, appearing as attorney for the NFL Players Assn., said in testimony prepared for the House antitrust subcommittee that present practices invite such things as blacklisting and mistreatment of injured players.

He called the NFL player contract a "legal monstrosity" which is one-sided in favor of the owners.

Medieval System
He termed pro football's player draft a medieval system that "violates the basic concepts of American employment tradition."

And he said the newly formed Players' Association—a sort of football union—may go to the National Labor Relations Board to gain bargaining recognition denied by NFL owners.

Miller testified as the subcommittee headed by Rep. Celler D-N. Y. opened the second half of its football inquiry. The group is checking into all professional team sports to determine if any legislation is needed to correct an apparent inconsistency created by Supreme Court decisions.

The court has held football subject to federal antitrust laws but baseball exempt.

Northey Celebrates Return To Phils With Winning HR

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Ron Northey, too slow for the American League's "go-go" Chicago White Sox, is "back home" again just doing what comes naturally to keep the Philadelphia Phillies on the move in the National League race.

The husky, balding, 37-year-old slugger, in a Phillies uniform for the first time in 10 years, walloped a game-winning two-run homer in last night's 8-5 victory over Cincinnati—coming up in a pinch-hit role only hours after being picked up from the White Sox on waivers.

Jackson's Fate Is No Deterrent To Patterson Champion to Unload Against Rademacher

New York (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson says the hospitalization of Tommy Hurricane Jackson won't deter him from going all out against Olympic king Pete Rademacher in their Aug. 22 title bout in Seattle.

Jackson, felled three times and dealt a fearful beating by Patterson at the Polo Grounds Monday night, was reported "resting comfortably" today at Meadowbrook Hospital at East Meadow. The eccentric contender went to the hospital five hours after he was stopped in the tenth round of the title fight.

Hospital physicians said Jackson had suffered a bruised kidney as a result of the beating and recommended that he be confined to the hospital for further observation. Patterson visited him at the hospital early yesterday.

Same As Jackson
Asked if he feared he might injure the professionally unproven Olympic heavyweight champion of 1956, Patterson replied:

"No. I would have to regard him like I did Jackson and other strong opponents. He's a big, strong fellow, I hear."

Patterson, who won the Olympic 165-pound crown at 17 in 1952, said he will resume training at Greenwood Lake, N. J., Thursday. He said he expected to box from 40 to 50 rounds in preparation for the balding, 28-year old Rademacher, who never has had a pro fight.

Patterson has been guaranteed $250,000 for the fight and his manager, Gus D'Amato, said that Rademacher's backers also have put an additional $100,000 in escrow to guarantee a return bout should Pete win the title.

No Television
D'Amato said the Rademacher fight won't be televised.

"And further," added D'Amato, "the heavyweight champion's fights will not be available for home television until one of the weekly network television fights shows is operated by an independent promoter."

D'Amato, feuding with the International Boxing Club, which promotes the weekly Wednesday and Friday night TV fight programs, said competition would enable fighters to get more money.

Newspaper Urges Ban on Jackson

Paterson, July 30 (AP)—The Paterson Evening News urged in an editorial today that Hurricane Jackson be retired because to allow him to continue in the ring would be "as cruel as sending a bull into the arena."

Abe J. Greene, the National Boxing Association Commissioner, is associate editor of the paper. The unsigned editorial said in part:

"Boxing authorities may be stirred to the only humane action remaining in Jackson's case—he should be gently retired to pasture for the remainder of his days...."

The editorial said Jackson "can't defend himself, doesn't know anything about defense, and added:

"Some night they could be carrying this superhuman young man out of the ring on a stretcher. This shouldn't happen. We trust the books are closed on his boxing career."

Cox 'Satisfactory'

London, July 30 (AP)—Hospital officials said today that Stan Cox, former English marathoner, hit by a javelin in a track and field meet last Saturday, was "progressing satisfactorily." Cox was hit just below the heart by the javelin while judging the event.

Northey's shot, his first home run of the year, hoisted the Phils within one percentage point of third-place Brooklyn and kept Philadelphia within 2½ games of first-place Milwaukee.

Braves Triumph
The Braves defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 but saw their lead shaved to a mere two percentage points over St. Louis as the Cardinals socked the New York Giants 7-3 on Joe Cunningham's pinch-hit grand-slam homer in the ninth.

The Dodgers split a pair with the Chicago Cubs, losing 4-3 after a 1-0 victory to fall 2½ games behind.

In the American League, where the first place New York Yankees have been forced to fight for their "run-away," Dick Donovan tossed a three-hitter to beat Washington 7-1 and keep the second place White Sox within three games of the top. The Yankees whipped Kansas City 10-4.

Boston smacked Detroit 4-0 on the four-singles pitching of veteran Bob Porterfield, and Cleveland replaced the Tigers in fourth place with a 6-0 decision over Baltimore behind the three-hit pitching of Johnny Gray, back in the majors for the first time since 1955.

Northey Slams Freeman
Northey, who broke into the majors with the Phils in 1942, went to the Cardinals in 1947, then to Cincinnati and the Cubs in 1950 and finally slipped to the minors before the Sox brought him back in 1955, capped a three-run eighth inning for the Phils with his sock off losing reliever Hersh Freeman. Stan Lopata had opened the rally with a homer off starter Joe Nuxhall after the Redlegs had fashioned a 5-3 lead on homers by Frank Robinson, Smokey Burgess and Don Hoak.

Bob Miller won it in relief for the Phils, who now have won four in a row and seven of their last eight to pull away from Cincinnati. The Redlegs, four games off the pace, have lost three in a row and five of their last 10.

Burdette Wins
Lew Burdette won his fourth in a row for a 9-5 record with a five-hitter for the Braves. The veteran righthander, 13-2 lifetime against the Bucs, gave up a home run and sacrifice fly to Gene Freese while the Braves scored three unearned runs to hand Art Swanson the defeat. Doby and Minnie Mino each hit a pair of home runs for the White Sox, while Donovan won his third in a row for an 11-3 record. The 29-year-old righthander, tagged for two hits by Roy Sievers who belted his 26th home run, has permitted only eight hits and three runs in his last 27 innings. Russ Kemmerer lost it.

Giants Training Hard for Football All-Star Classic

Winooski, Vt. (AP)—The New York Giants are not taking the All-Star Football Game lightly. The coaching staff has too much respect for collegians like John Brodie, Ron Kramer and Don Bosseler.

In fact, the world champions of professional football are being driven at a furious pace under the whip hand of Coach Jim Lee Howell to reach peak effectiveness for the Aug. 9 classic in Chicago.

"The All-Star Game is a prestige game," Howell explained. "If you lose, you're terrible, if you win, it is expected. For that reason we are getting the regulars ready in a hurry. We're forcing ourselves to come along fast."

Rookies Must Wait
"On the other hand, the rookies are being developed slower. We'll be able to pay more attention to them after the game."

The coaching staff has been hustling the 57 candidates competing for 35 available positions twice a day since they reported July 19 at St. Michael's College campus.

Today the Giants were scheduled to drop to a one-session-a-day pace with the last full scale scrimmage before the All-Star encounter.

"Basically the clubs who have won for the all stars in the past have had good passers and big, fast lines," said Howell.

Good Passer Vital
"The winner doesn't have to make many touchdowns in the game and a good passer is necessary."

"Brodie, the boy from Stanford, impressed me particularly. Of course, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame is a fine looking player and with both at quarterback, the stars will be able to move the ball."

"Most coaches think Jon Arnett, Southern California, is a great ball carrier and Bosseler All America from Miami is an outstanding runner."

"The top receivers include Ron Kramer Michigan All America and Del Shofner from Baylor."

Harney's 66 Sets Pace in Chicago Golf

Chicago, July 30 (AP)—Paul Harney, a slim power hitter from Worcester, Mass., fired a four-under-par 66 to lead the first-day qualifiers for the $25,000 All-American golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

Harney, who has a reputation of being second only to George Bayer among long ball hitters, carved a 32-34 over the 6,915-yard layout.

The 28-year-old former Holy Cross star who recently won the Montreal Open and the Flint Open, led Al Besselink, of Grossingers, N. Y., by two strokes.

Besselink, 32, had a 34-34 over the par 36-36 course. Bert Weaver, of Beaumont, Tex., was third with a 69 followed by a foursome which tied with rounds of 70. This group included Buddy Sullivan, Sacramento, Calif.; Chuck Malchaski, Chicago; Fred Haas Jr., Metairie, La., and Bobby Shields, Jacksonville, Ill.

Approximately 100 golfers went out today with another 160-180 scheduled to go Wednesday. The low 72 scores for the two days will be eligible for the All-American which opens Thursday and will be followed by the 'World' next week.

No qualifying rounds were held for the women's professional division. Only 31 women entered the tournament and promoter George S. May decided to let them all compete without qualifying play.

Mrs. Robert Umpleby Wins Low Net at Twaalfskill Club

Mrs. Robert Umpleby carded a net 35 to win first prize in the ladies day nine-hole tournament Tuesday at The Twaalfskill Club. Mrs. Umpleby posted a 52 gross and had 17 handicap.

Mrs. Austin Boyd took low gross honors with 51 and Mrs. N. Levan Haver won the putting contest with 16 putts.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—John Gray, Indians—Came through with a three-hitter nursing a 1-0 lead with a one-hitter for eight innings, for a 6-0 victory over Orioles in first major league appearance since 1955.

HITTING—Yogi Berra, Yankees—Cracked a home run and three singles, good for four runs, in 10-4 victory over Athletics.

Robinson, Basilio Make Match Official

International Boxing Club and Jim Norris will hold the official signing of Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight champion, and Carmen Basilio, welterweight champion, at the boxing commission today.

Basilio will fight for Robinson's title Sept. 23 at Yankee Stadium. Tickets for the match, at $40 ringside top, will go on sale Thursday.

BRIDGE

West Trades One for Two

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The four players at the table represented more than 10,000 master points and there was a large gallery watching the exhibition.

From a technical standpoint the most interesting hand of the rubber was a three-diamond contract that was set one trick.

South did not really have an opening bid, but anything goes in such expert company and eventually he found himself at three diamonds.

He won the opening heart lead in dummy and discarded a low club. His next play was the four of spades and East's nine was allowed to hold the trick.

East fired the jack of trumps at him. South won with the king and played a low spade which fell to West's king.

At this point West brought down the house. He led the queen of trumps! This cost him a sure trump trick but he got back two in return.

South won with the ace and saw no advantage in ruffing one of his losing spades, since that play would set up West's nine spot as the top trump. Instead South tried for an end play. He led a trump to dummy's ten, ruffed a heart and proceeded to run the rest of his trumps.

East discarded down to two clubs and the ace-jack of spades. A club was led to dummy's last-

South had made one mistake. He should have gone up with the queen of spades at trick two. If he had I doubt if West would have led a low diamond away from the queen.

Woodstock News

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Jean Deis, Tenor Replaces Ill Soprano

Woodstock, July 31—Because of sudden illness, the Saturday night recital, on August 3, of soprano Shakes Vartanissian has been postponed. In her stead, the brilliant young concert and opera tenor, Jean Deis, assisted at the piano by Alexander Semmler, will make his only appearance in Woodstock this summer on that date, at the Maverick Concert Hall.

Jean Deis whose sensational voice won him countless friends and admirers in Woodstock last season as the leading tenor of the Turnau Opera Players has been acclaimed by many important critics as one of today's brightest stars among the world's lyric tenors.

Besides old classical Italian arias, a group of Strauss songs and a number of American songs, Jean Deis will sing some of the most famous arias from his operatic repertoire like Celeste Aida, O Paradiso, Vesti in Giubba and others.

To round out the program, Alexander Semmler will play piano compositions by Brahms, Chopin, Debussy, Scriabine and himself.

Fair Profit $7,000

Woodstock, July 31—The 30th Annual Woodstock Library Fair opened its six-hour long stand last Thursday, and by the time the curtain rang down on the festivities at 6 p. m., net proceeds amounted to approximately $7,000. This was slightly higher than last year's figure.

A capacity crowd was already in evidence long before the official opening time, and the crowd never diminished during the day, an ideal fair day weatherwise. Woodstock residents thronged to the booths with a multitude of out-of-town visitors.

In all it was a highly successful fair, netting more than the '56 annual event, and with the "Great Expectations" feature bringing in well over $1,000 alone.

Union Center

Union Center, July 31—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Travis and family have returned from a trip through Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Illinois.

Cable Bid

New York (AP)—The Okonite Co. of Passaic, N. J., is the apparent low bidder to furnish 36,000 feet of 115-kilovolt cable for a state under water power transmission project across Lake Champlain. The cable will carry power under the lake from Cumberland Head, N. Y., to Grande Isle, Vt. The New York State Power Authority opened sealed bids on the project yesterday.

The authority said Okonite bid $257,872 if shipment is by rail and $270,016 if by barge.

Killed by Train

Oneonta (AP)—Norman Hale, about 58, was killed yesterday when he was run over by a train in the Delaware and Hudson Railroad yard. Hale, a D&H employee, had been uncoupling two cars from the train.

Warmer Winters?

The earth's orbit is such that the sun is 3,000,000 miles closer in January than in July and winter would be warmer than summer if the sun's rays did not strike the Northern Hemisphere more obliquely at that time.

Niagara Power

He said efforts were being made to work out an agreement for distribution of the Niagara power.

Johnson said he had not promised and could not promise that Niagara would be taken up right after the civil rights bill.

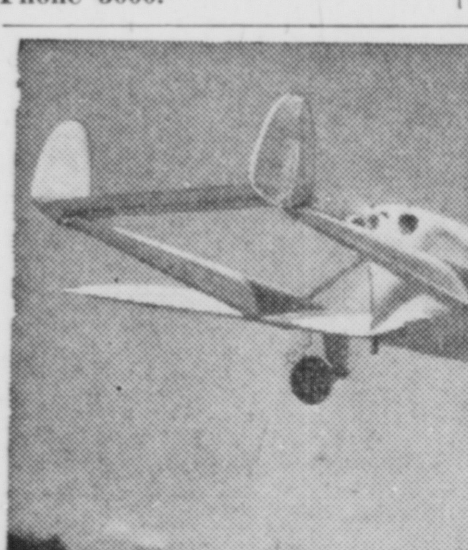

In his overture to Harriman, Clark said in a letter that he would meet with the governor or any of his representatives to discuss the bill.

Clark is the sponsor of an amendment to double, to 20 per cent, the amount of power to be made available to Pennsylvania and Ohio when the 600-million dollar project is completed.

However, he has taken the position recently that no definite limit should be set on division of the power. He feels the states concerned should decide the matter by bargaining. The Federal Power Commission could act as umpire if necessary.

SOLVES TRAFFIC PROBLEM — When Leland Bryan of Highland, Mich., gets tired of bucking highway traffic he takes off—literally. Bryan invented the "autoplane," seen at top. The same craft, bottom, takes to the highway with equal ease after its wings are folded. It does 90 m.p.h. in the air and 60 on the ground.

Leader Building

retain the "colonial feeling" of the building, according to one source.

There will be a small display room on the first floor for Sears, Roebuck merchandise, it is reported. Clerks will be on hand to take mail orders.

It is understood that the company has been seeking quarters in this area for three or four years.

The old building, about 200 years old, formerly the Kingston Academy, is undergoing extensive renovations. The entire upper floor is "shored up" and some of the partitions are apparently being removed.

Arrested as AWOL

To Fire Tiny Earth Satellites

Washington (AP)—U. S. scientists plan to fire some tiny earth satellites into outer space this fall in preparation for the subsequent launching of the larger 22-pound baby moon.

A source familiar with the program said yesterday the smaller moons, which will weigh four pounds, might orbit the earth for up to two weeks.

Launching of these tiny globes is scheduled for November, as part of preliminary tests of rocket types to be used later for the satellites.

The smaller satellites would carry "minitrack" radio equipment to permit tracking, the official said, but would not be equipped with any of the complex instruments which will be installed in the 22-pound moon.

Calls Off Record Run

Canandaigua (AP)—Unfavorable wind and water conditions today forced Donald Campbell to call off his attempt at a new water speed record at least until tomorrow. A southeast wind of 15 miles an hour created ripples along the 6-mile Lake Canandaigua course, making it unsafe for a record run.
